MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

On motion of Senator Breed, the following biennial message from the Governor was read and ordered printed in the Journal:

FOURTH BIENNIAL MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR HIRAM W. JOHNSON.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

To the Senate and Assembly:

In accordance with custom and the requirements of the constitution, I transmit this to you as my biennial message.

In four regular sessions of the legislature and two special sessions, we have together been striving for the common good. What otherwise would be a mere formal act in transmitting a biennial message to you, becomes with me a very solemn moment as I contemplate the last six years, with its early fears and hopes and aspirations and dimly seen possibilities, the first striving and struggle, the barriers apparently insuperable, one by one battered down, and then a great people entering the sunlight of political freedom and pressing forward upon the path of democracy triumphant.

In six years California has witnessed a complete political revolution, a unique metamorphosis in economic policies. To many and varied activities a new philosophy of government has given an impetus which no reaction can check. The newly created departments of state have duties widely divergent, covering fields far removed from one another, but all originating from a common purpose and from a common policy, announced in the inaugural address of 1911, persisted in the legislative session of that year, and since then pertinaciously and consistently carried out. It is my purpose in this my last memorial message to present to you one example of the result of the public service, but the underlying principles and the numerous other measures which have been vigorously fought for and successfully achieved.

Prior to 1911 for two generations our state had been dominated politically and industrially by one national corporation. The nation dominated by this one transportation and commercial enterprise had made California one of the most backward of states. The old and the original method of government regarding state to a private interest, seriously hindered the problems that had come to democracy, with modern machinery and modern invention, and the marvellous development of later years. The government of the old order had passed the corporate state upon property rights and little or none on human rights. It had been concerned not so much with problems of wealth and not enough with problems of poverty. It had been more the more unknown to our republic in its earlier days, but which had crept upon us in recent years, the evils of unemployment, the evils of pauperism, the evils of the slums, the evils which spring from the masses of economic poverty, in short, all the evils which constitute the great and fundamental problem of poverty.

At first indistinctly and then clearly, our thoughtful and patriotic men and women saw that government must take a new attitude towards the commonwealth, an attitude which would perish utterly; that not only must it continue to protect the wealthy against deductions by the poor, and maintain its power and its prestige, but that it must protect the poor also against exploitation, chronic and inevitable. Not alone must it serve and safeguard and maintain its material and its business interests, but it must better protect the weak against the strong, and must secure not only the public domain and the public money and property, but also the common law, the common right and the childhood of the community, which are the best assets of the state.

We saw the changes in the social and economic conditions which had brought woman into the industrial field required that she should have a vote and a right to participate in the public life of the state, which as a citizen should be made and the welfare of her children. We realized that we could not by our efforts or in our generation solve the problem of poverty, but we were coming to understand that we could attack it in detail, and as a means of attack, and that we could constitute in state government the spirit of social service, and as a result of graft and of power. We believed that we could make the state government an ally in industry for conserving wealth and protecting it against theft and robbery, but an enemy which, by conserving the common good in many directions, would become a reliable servant to every member of the community.

Our first problem, that of restoring the state government to the people, was attacked by removing from every important position, every seat of the old regime and filling their places with men whose loyalty was to the people alone. The old Railroad Commission, which had been created in behalf of the railroads and had never attempted to exercise its powers, was succeeded by a commission composed of a different stamp of men, who with entire fairness had recognized the corporation which formerly regulated the State. Through the State Board of Control, through the Civil Service Commission, and through other agencies, the work of making and keeping the state government efficient, economical and frugal to the public interest was completed. By the initiative, referendum and recall, the Australian ballot and direct primary and other such measures the people have been placed in a position to protect themselves in the future against recurring attacks which will be made by groups of corporations and special interests to capture again the government of the State.

The program of social and human legislation, was our next step. Through the establishment of workmen's compensation, through women's suffrage, through child labor laws, through the work of the Industrial Welfare Commission, whose chief endeavor is to establish a minimum wage and through conditions for women who toil, through the Social Insurance Commission, whose principal task at present is to create a system of health insurance, through the work of the Labor Commission, the public employment office, through which many of the ills and troubles of personal, unorganized and unskilled labor have been navigated, through the Commission of Immigration and Housing, which, cooperating with the Labor Bureau has corrected and is in a way further to correct, the ghastly tenement houses and slums in the country and tenements in the cities, through the radical reform and improvement of reform schools, and penitentiaries, through numerous laws designed to better the conditions under which men and women work, such as the eight-hour law for women, and for underground miners, and the full-train-crow statute, through many other efforts and in many other directions, the State of California, since 1911, has relieved the economic pressure on men, women and children, has helped them to secure a larger share in the products of their toil, and the good things of life, and a more comfortable place in the sun.

The government of the State has been brought more closely home and made more useful to the ordinary citizen who pays the bills by the construction of highways, by the extension of the university, especially in the agricultural department, by the reconstruction and adequate education of the heathen in San Francisco, by improvements in the school system of the State, by the printing of new textbooks for all pupils, by the efforts to solve the problem of immigration and blood control, by the work of the State Market Commission and by many other measures of like character.

Supplementing the old laws which protected wealth against poverty, the state now protects poverty against dishonesty and exploitation by the regulation of weights and measures, and by the pure food laws, by the work of the Commissioner of Corporations, enforcing the Blue Sky Law, by the Insurance Abolition Act, by the requirement of periodical payment of wages, by the activities of the Bureau of Labor and the Housing and Immigration Commission in the collection of claims of the unfortunate and the needy, and by various other measures designed to guide the ignorant, inexperienced and unfortunate against the craft and caseworkers. All these accomplishments, none of them insignificant, great and bold, all of them, so successful and satisfactory in operation as to have nearly stifled the voice of opposition, have been steps forward in a consistent endeavor and in a fixed policy, first, to make the government of California democratic and popular; secondly, to make it honest, efficient and more worthy as to the money power; and, thirdly, to solve in such measure as is possible in a state government, the problems that spring from poverty and from the conditions of the modern civilized world.

Six years ago, we had a government that was cruel and demoralized, controlled, directed and manipulated, by a single corporation, today this government belongs to all its people. Six years ago, there was little need of our humanity, by government. We have now learned that the true obligation and duty of government are to its men and its women and its children. Six years ago, California was one of the most backward states in the nation, today, in its care of humanity and in social and industrial justice, it is the most advanced state where democracy obtains.

This regenerated State, this regenerated government, I shall soon leave to you and my successor. I shall leave it with the sorrow and regret that one ever leaves that which, with all that God has given him, he has shaken for and fought for and won. I shall, however, lay down my work and rest it within a brief time with you and my successor, with full confidence that you and he will maintain and conserve, protect and preserve, with the same persistency and the same singleness of purpose, the marvelous advance, achievement and accomplishment of our commonwealth.

THE REGULATION OF PUBLIC UTILITIES AND THE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

The story of the Railroad Commission, a striking and startling fashion illustrates the revolution in California's government. Prior to 1879 the system which finally made of our government a pitiless railroad despotism had been developed. In that year, a new constitution was submitted to the people, providing for a Railroad Commission with regulatory powers. Under the system which had been gradually developed, however, the policies of the state were controlled by one great transportation company, and by the simple expedient of selecting the Railroad Commissioners and making the commission a part of its commercial system, the railroad company rendered nugatory the constitutional provision from which the people had hoped so much. Political organization was perverted by the railroad company, in every part of the State, and under the old constitution system this organization was invincible. The government was seized and disorganized and destroyed. The political power and financial dominance and the power was used for commercial purposes. The rebate was a dead instrument of commerce and politics. The pass was a petty bribe to the convention delegate. Upon the industries of the State, upon the produce of the farmer and upon the shipments of the storage merchant, there was levied an extortionate toll. The Railroad Commission was but a mockery of the hopes and aspirations of a great people. During one year of its sixty years of existence, prior to 1910, the receipt of a single letter cost him his only business. The first gleam of sunshine came to our people with the new primary in 1910. With the opportunity to choose for themselves under a direct primary the people rose in rebellion, changed their public officials and looked forward to the triumph of the promise of the successful candidates to eliminate the corrupt corporate influence from government. And then commenced the period of reconstruction.

The Railroad Commission, under the leadership of the late John M. Eshleman, with his colleagues, Alexander Gordon and H. D. Leland, backed by all the power of the State administration, wrought an almost instantaneous transformation. Appropriate legislation was passed in 1911, and amendments and amendments submitted to the people at a special election called in October, 1911, at which those amendments were adopted. A special session of the Legislature was called that year and at that session a new public utilities act was passed and the Railroad Commission made appointive and enlarged to five. The additional members appointed were Max Thelen and Edwin O. Edgerton. Mr. Eshleman served until January, 1915, with a distinction that has won him the unbroken love of a grateful people, and has given unto him a lasting name. In his stead Frank R. Brown was appointed.

The change in 1911, with a rejuvenated Railroad Commission, was startling and dramatic. Cynical opposition was met by the demoralized, thirty years of political dominance by a regenerated public service, the power of entrenched special privilege with the power of a great people, and the result was not long in coming. The entire public utility rate schedule of the State of California was reconsidered, discrimination and extortion were removed from the business life of the community. The work began with the railroad rates in the San Joaquin Valley and was completed there with a total reduction of $7,000,000 a year. Then rapidly followed in every section of the State the reduction of excessive rates. Railroads have made only after careful investigations and painstaking analyses and the justice of the reductions was demonstrated by the fact that none of the carriers attacked succeeded in the courts. It would be impossible within the limits of this journal to state the work that has been done by the Railroad Commission in the past 20 years and reduction of freight rates in this State and I need not say that were existing over every section of California—the Imperial Valley, the Coachella River Valley, San Pablo and Los Angeles, the mountain territories and the Great Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys—indeed, every community and every part of the State for its economic results. Not only did the commission justly reduce the railroad transportation rates, but after two years of the most assiduous investigation of the Wells Fargo & Company's express rates $750,000 a year had been saved, better proportionate to the cost and the justice of the work that the Railroad Commission is doing than the losses found in the Wells Fargo case. Here it amounted, from their overcharges beginning with a few thousand dollars, from the point it had then gone to take from the profits and investments the company had received to the sum of $2,000,000.

Of course, the opposition to the work of the commission was bitter and bitter, but it was the opposition of what had been a tyrannical monopoly that in turn was now a sovereign power, and while that opposition was still numerous and through its journalistic advocates will ever be just as vociferous and bitter, so long as a sovereign people rule and public servants have no allegiance except to the State, there will be the same triumph, but really.

The commission undertook as well a revision of long business telephone charges and though they lessened some charges by $100,000 a year, the charges were increased without contest. To take further the revision of the rates of the gas companies have been regulated and by the reduction of rates nearly $2,000,000 a year have been affected and the annual savings will amount $1,000,000. Not only have the rates been lowered but the character of the service has been improved through well equipped laboratory investigations. The utilities had presented and continued for a quarter of a century a peculiar doctrine that their customers should finance facilities for the corporations and then pay a return on the capitalization upon the property which they had thus given, and so long had this practice been successful, the companies and the corporations had come to regard it as a matter of legal right. It was found, for instance, that as preparation for services, portions of the California telephone, gas, electric and telephone had been charged to users for construction of $1,250,000. All this has now been changed.

The procedure of the commission is free from the usual restrictions that govern other judicial tribunals. Its object is to obtain the facts and then render a just determination. Technicalities are unknown to its processes. It tries from three to four formal cases daily. It conducts its work with a dispatch which contrasts strikingly with the ordinary methods of courts. It knows none of its work and its decisions are speedily rendered and so accurately, apparently, that not a single rate revision has been disturbed by the courts.

In its informal, or correspondence department, the commission affords an average of ten issues daily. During the last five years it has rendered 4,000 decisions, passed upon 3,300 disputes and heard motions which resulted in the saving of many money before determination. Its informal adjudications are many thousands. A two-cent stamp, a note post card, may invoke the aid of the whole force of its organization, and complaints thus informally presented have not to come to the most important investigations and decisions. The general reduction of public utility charges in the state of California reaches an aggregate of $8,000,000 per year.

The cost of life's necessities in the United States rising and falling has imposed upon every home an additional burden, but in California, we now take a reasonable pride in the protection afforded against rising costs in public utility services. While costs in other fields have mounted higher and higher, the gas and electric and telephone charges here have steadily fallen, and all of this has been accomplished not only without injury to the public utility corporations, but actually to their advantage. Legitimate and solvent public utilities now seek what at first they resented, the approval of the commission of legal issues, financial reorganization and the like. Their securities have an added value when passed upon favorably by the commission. Business legitimately conducted has been industriously aided, and the statistics show the great increase in investment of outside capital. The justice of the decisions of the Railroad Commission, the beneficial results of their supervision and control of public utilities are attested by the very representatives of these corporations.

Of course, as in the activities of every human agency, decisions doubtless have been rendered by the Railroad Commission which have not met with universal approbation, but in the multiplicity of its work, the rarity of such instances is remarkable. The commission in its dealings has not alone come in contact with the most powerful influences in the State, but with the most humble as well. No complaint has been too small, no complainant too humble, to have its full attention. No power has been too great to be attacked and rebuffed when attempting injustice or wrong. It has finally demonstrated that the people of the State of California represented by their duly elected officers, are greater and stronger than any agency within the State, and that all alike must yield to the common good.

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL.

During the past six years California has demonstrated that public business can be conducted as honestly and as efficiently as private business. The natural corollary of the old political system of California, as vividly pictured in the brief description of the Railroad Commission, was a lax, inefficient, and corrupt administration of the business of the commonwealth. It seems incredible now, that prior to 1911 there had not been for many, many years a state audit; that there was no centralized control over the business conducted by the state, no mode of accurately determining the necessity and amount of appropriations, and no supervision which would preclude favoritism in bidding. The despotism of a single transportation corporation, in our government, brought, of course, every ill to which democracy is heir, and with the elimination of that corporation and the return of the government to the people, it was obvious that there must be accomplished not only political reform, but economic and business reform as well.

The legislature of 1911, therefore, passed the law creating the State Board of Control, and gave to that board plenary powers over the business and financial affairs of the State. The board which was first appointed to undertake a task in relation to the business of the state as great as that of the Railroad Commission in reference to the regulation of public utilities consisted of James A. Johnson, John Francis Neylan, and Clyde Seavey. Mr. Johnston was succeeded by Fred C. Nelles, and he in turn by Wm. H. Humphrey and F. H. Bloodgood. Mr. Seavey was succeeded by Paul Herriot.

Investigations at once were held by the board, and corruption and fraud in the business of the State were uncovered. Ruthlessly the old methods were destroyed and the individuals who were guilty were removed from the service of the State. But the great work of the board was to systematize the business of California in such way that it might challenge comparison with the system in vogue in those great business concerns that are models of commercial enterprise. The problem presented was to organize an institution doing a business of approximately $15,000,000 a year in which for a quarter of a century the controlling thought had been the operation of the enterprise for the benefit not of the stockholders, but of a favored few.

The investigations of the Board of Control disclosed that during twenty years preceding 1910, $200,000,000 of the taxpayers' money were expended on the construction and maintenance of state institutions and departments without an audit; that the State law governing the award of contracts was frequently ignored that fraud might be practiced; that many reputable business houses would not do business with the State; that contractors had control of the business of certain departments and institutions; that it was not uncommon to deliver inferior materials where superior were contracted for.

This summary of the results of the investigation by the Board of Control is but a mild statement. The records on file of the investigation of certain institutions, the State Printing Office, and various individuals will disclose conditions of inefficiency and corruption that beggar description, but which were the necessary results of the old political machine methods. The old system has now yielded to the new order. The old log rolling methods, inefficiency, fraud, corruption and political control have been displaced by a budget system, a searching financial supervision, modern business methods, economy and efficiency.

The Board of Control conceived the idea that there should be some method of determining in advance of a legislative session the amount and the necessity for the various appropriations for the state institutions. The system by which the managers or superintendents of state institutions were required to dance attendance during a legislative session, log rolling to obtain the highest possible appropriation, was admittedly an imposition upon the State, and a system distasteful to those who desired to devote themselves wholly to the labors of their particular activities. The Board of Control devised the plan, therefore, of making a budget for each legislature; and although there is no written law upon the subject, by agreement between the board and the Executive, and by understanding with the various institutions, the Board of Control has its hearings in conjunction with the controller, prior to the session of the legislature, the necessity for appropriations is presented in evidentiary fashion and then judiciously determined. When the legislative meets, therefore, it finds the report of this budget and any legislator desiring accurate information has but to inquire of the Board of Control and that accurate information derived from the hearings held is immediately accorded. Under the old system the State's funds were distributed in proportion to the political influence of the applicant; under the budget system, they are distributed in accordance with the needs of the state departments and the merits of the governmental projects.

The pre-audit system put in operation by the Board of Control is constantly in the requirement of a monthly budget. The Board asks the executive heads of each state institution and department to furnish it prior to the twentieth of each month with a certified estimate of the needs of the department or institution for the preceding month. These estimates are examined in detail, unnecessary or unnecessary purchases eliminated. Where an institution or department makes a report of that of which another institution or department has a surplus, a transfer is suggested. And every question regarding expenditures is thus settled in advance and the proper foundation laid for the subsequent audit of claims.

A purchasing department was created. Forty-three state departments and twenty-three state institutions were recommended to use separately in respect to common needs. All of them, for instance, required fuel and the Board decided that a separate contract even at widely varying rates for the separate departments was plain and the State Purchasing Department was created that purchases fuel as made by one central organization for all of the departments of the state government.

The provisions of the law governing award of contracts to private business had been disregarded or by reason of ignorance in the awarding of bids had been rendered nugatory. The Board of Control undertook to correct the situation and business men of California that the law relating to state contracts should be rigidly enforced, that there should be fair competition in the business of the State and that the State in its dealings. Communications were addressed to chambers of commerce, business men's organizations and the like, and were skeptically received. Gradually the new order became apparent, even to business men, and many of them who formerly regarded the management of the State's business and other public institutions had learned that it was useless to bid for that business, and that honest competition for contracts with the commonwealth. Twenty times as many firms now bid for the business of the State as formerly and no matter who they are, they receive like treatment. The Board of Control estimates that in the restoration of honest competition alone, no less than $1,000,000 has been saved to the State.

But the enforcement of honesty in awarding of contracts would be futile unless the state obtained what it bargained for. A favorite method of fraud, under the old system, was to take a low bid upon a given article, and then accept an inferior article for the one bid upon. By the enforcement of a contract law, the same method was exposed to the board. The board, therefore, constituted the same board now drug laboratory of the University of California the judge of the quality of all food supplies and drugs delivered to state institutions. The assistance rendered by the laboratory has been invaluable. The State now demands that value and quality demands it, but gets it. No one volume could describe the radical changes that have been made in the conduct of the business of the State. Where before there were waste and extravagance, today there is economy and efficiency. Where corruption stalked honesty now rules. Where the State was exploited for the benefit and profit of a few, all of the people now reap the advantage.

The business of the State of California is now conducted upon business principles and conducted as efficiently and as economically as any government or scientifically managed private enterprise.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION—INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT COMMISSION

The new philosophy of government, which has obtained in California had its best and most sharply defined demonstration in the workmen's compensation law. In 1911, we stood at the threshold of a great unexplored governmental field. Behind us were the humiliation and shame of thirty years of exploited government, cynically administered for a few. With hope in democracy's future and in the trust that with the direct primary, with undefined, yet certain knowledge of democracy's obligations, we turned from the old sordid materialism, and looked to the greater promise of activity for humanity itself. We entered falteringly the unexplored field, and then our steps grew firm and our vision broad, and today no commonwealth has gone farther or built better for humanity.

Those who believed that industry should bear the burden of its accidents, that its maimed and its injured should not be cast forever upon the scrap heap of humanity, were tirelessly seeking a legal remedy. It was realized that the frightful burden of accident should not be wholly upon him least able to bear it, but the path to relief through the intricate mazes of the law was difficult to find. The legislature of 1911, adopted an elective law which, though not wholly effective, afforded opportunity for an educational propaganda and a thorough investigation.

The first Industrial Accident Commission, consisting of A. J. Pillsbury, Will J. French and Willis L. Morrison, prepared an elaborate workmen's compensation law which was presented to the legislature in 1913, was duly adopted, and became operative January 1, 1914. While this law was pending and before it had undergone the actual test of administration, it was the center of perhaps the bitterest contest that has been waged over any enactment of recent years. And out of all of the bitterness and abuse and denunciation of that contest may come to you who are now assuming legislative duties, the lesson that must ever be learned by him who would fearlessly represent those who have entrusted him with power. Fifty days, during the session of 1913, all those newspapers of the State of California which have not been opposed to any sort of social justice, published page after page, not alone of so-called conservative argument against the "corroding socialism" of the state government, but of the foulest abuse of every individual advocating the law. To public scorn and ridicule and contumely we were held up as "destroyers of industry," "looters of business," "traitors to the state," "arrogant demagogues pandering to the worst elements of our citizenship." So hysterically mad became this part of the press that first there was uneasiness and then absolute fear among honest business men, not only as to our intentions, but as to the ultimate result to themselves and their enterprises, from this merciful and humane law. Committees and delegations from different sections of the State waited upon the legislature and upon the Chief Executive, and the disastrous results which would flow from caring for our maimed and our injured were painted in the most lurid colors. The newspaper opponents were as violently abusive as they have ever been in the heat of a political campaign. The law nevertheless passed. Six months after it had been operating, we had the satisfaction of listening to the leaders of labor and the representatives of the largest employers in the State of California, unite in a public gathering in universal praise of the act. Today, employer and employee alike join in commendation. It is only the part of the press that was so malicious and malignant and mendacious during the pendency of the measure before the legislature, that refuses to accord its praise, but even this press is now forced to be silent. No man in public life would have the temerity to suggest the repeal of the Workmen's Compensation Law, and this law has been the vindication and the justification of California's social program.

The administration of the law in January, 1914, was entrusted to A. J. Pillsbury, Will J. French, and Colonel Harris Weinstock. In 1915, Mr. Weinstock resigned, and since then his place has been filled by Meyer Lissner.

It was necessary because of the action of the insurance companies and in order to protect employers, that the State should in connection with compensation to the injured in industry enter the insurance field. This was a socialistic feature at which our opponents stood aghast. In hysterical indignation they cried aloud against the enormity of the State invading a field of private enterprise, and of the inability of the people, through their representatives, to compete, and of the ultimate ruin therefore to the finances of the State. And here is the demonstration that, with the elimination of the invisible government, with an administration by those who owe allegiance only to the people, the State may compete and successfully compete with any semipublic corporate enterprise within the State. On December 31, 1916, the state compensation insurance fund had been in operation three years. It came into competition with about 25 insurance corporations whose agency organizations were well established. The state's insurance business the first year amounted to more than double the anticipated volume and it led its nearest competitor by over $140,000 in premiums. The second year the State increased its lead over its nearest competitor to $250,000, and its volume of business for last year amounted to over $900,000. It is estimated that this will be double the business of any other insurance corporation writing workmen's compensation in California. The business of the fund has been handled, at an expense for management, acquisition, inspection, claim adjustment, and all other items (except actual loss payments) for about one-third of the average ratio of expense of the corporate insurance companies. The average expense ratio of private companies is approximately 15 per cent, while that of the fund has been only 14.17 per cent. This saving in operation costs alone has enabled the fund to declare dividends to policyholders amounting to 15 per cent of the premiums earned in each of the three years. In addition, the fund has accumulated a substantial surplus for protection against catastrophe. Not only is this remarkable showing made by California in the insurance business, but in efficiency of administration, the California department surpasses any privately-owned company. A larger percentage of cases is summarily settled and paid by the state fund than by any of its competitors.

An idea of the work of the commission may be formed from the number of cases reported to it. In 1915, there were reported 67,538 cases of injury of which 533 were deaths, 1264 permanently injured and 65,741 temporarily injured. Ninety per cent of the claims for compensation were settled without controversy other than such as could be adjusted by correspondence or personal conference. About 10 per cent were filed for determination by the commission. In 1914, there were 628 cases decided by the commission; in 1915, 1123 and up to December 1, 1916, 1409. Not only did our act provide for compensation to the injured, but as well for the installation of safety devices for making the places of employment safe to work in. The commission has adopted safety rules and has covered almost all of the industries of the State. Under the inspection work of the commission, the industries of California, with reference to safety have been practically revolutionized.

In order to preclude the possibility of adverse decisions by the courts, certain provisions of the law will probably have to be re-enacted, and the amendments in this regard will be presented to you by the commission.

The commission has done its work well, efficiently and economically. Its record and the universal esteem in which it is held are its highest praise.

THE STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION.

The act under which the eighteen millions were voted by the people for a system of state highways required the construction to be under the Department of Engineering. This department, already overburdened with state construction, of course could not, without appropriate assistance, undertake the task. It would have been far better could a separate entity have been created to constitute a State Highway Commission, but the legislature was forced in the 1911 session to adopt the rather some method of adding three members to the State Advisory Board, and these three members, so far as they could be, were constituted our Highway Commission. The Advisory Board consists of certain ex officio members, the Governor, the State Engineer, the President of the San Francisco Bar or Commission, and the Commissioner of Hospitals and Lunacy. The three additional members as appointed were Charles D. Blaney, N. D. Darlington and Burton A. Towne, and to them was entrusted the construction of our state highway system. On January 14, 1914, Burton A. Towne resigned and Charles Frank Stern was appointed in his stead.

The Highway Commission, by acquiescence of all of the members of the Advisory Board, was thus made practically an independent department of government, the Advisory Board formally approving its acts. The original act of 1909, adopted by the people, was the first essay of the state in highway construction upon a large scale. The framers of the act conceded that the $18,000,000 were wholly insufficient for the construction of 3,200 to 3,500 miles of trunk roads and laterals demanded, but it was deemed, at the time, that a larger sum could not be successfully carried. The California Highway Commission was at the outset confronted therefore with an impossible task. In every fashion it conserved the highway fund. It prevailed upon various counties to build the bridges and provide rights of way, and the counties responded with generous cooperation. By its contracts for rock, gravel, sand and cement, the Commission saved from 25 to 60 per cent. The railroad companies gave the State a special tariff schedule, saving from 20 to 50 per cent in transportation of road material. The concessions received by the commission it accorded all building contractors and thus in the construction of the highways has effected a saving of from fifteen to twenty-five hundred dollars per mile. The Highway Commission was not more than well upon its way when the world-wide depression in securities occurred and its 4 per cent bonds could not be sold. These bonds were quoted during the period of depression at from 92½ to 95, but the industry and pertinacity of the members of the commission, aided by various committees throughout the state, aroused in the various counties an interest in highway construction and finally disposed of more than $13,000,000 of the highway bonds at par to the counties themselves.

California began its highway construction when the science of road building was little understood. Experience had not yet established the best type. Automobile traffic severely tried every theory, and it remained for the California Highway Commission to pioneer the way in the art of road building. At first the determination of the commission of its standard type of road, with a solid concrete base, carpeted with a layer of trap rock screenings and bituminous oil, aroused strenuous opposition, but the commission's decision has been vindicated by the test of actual experience, and there is now practically no division of sentiment as to the best type of construction. California now has more miles of solid concrete base roads than all the Eastern states.

In the immense organization required to be perfected to do the most efficient work, civil service was adopted by the Highway Commission, even before the State made it a distinct policy for every department. There is not a surveyor, a draftsman or an axman on the commission's pay roll who holds his position save through his personal merit and qualifications. The organization is as efficient as the most highly trained organization of any private corporation.

Briefly stated, the following is a summary of the Highway Commission's work at the end of the present year:

Miles of road surveyed, 2,400.
Miles of highway in system, oiled macadam	185
Miles of highway, concrete pavement	918
Miles of highway, asphalt pavement	53
Miles of highway, graded	288
Total	1,544

Miles of road paved by the counties and taken over and improved and maintained by the State, 156.

Practically 143 grade crossings have been eliminated and about 450 bridges have been built or transferred to the State by the counties of an aggregate value of nearly three and a half millions.

The Highway Commission of California has efficiently and economically expended $18,000,000 without a single scandal and without the slightest suspicion of graft. It has constructed roads that are the admiration of visitors and meet with the enthusiastic approval of our own citizens. No higher encomium could have been bestowed upon this commission than the overwhelming vote recently accorded to the new bond issue of $15,000,000 for the completion of their work.

The esteem in which the Highway Commission and its engineering staff are held was recently most flatteringly shown. The United States government entered upon its new national highway policy. It desired to inaugurate that policy under the most auspicious circumstances. It sought the aid of the most highly trained and successful highway engineers, and finally, after investigation, request was made to the Governor to furlough the chief engineer of the Highway Commission of California, that he might, at Washington, render such assistance as he could to the United States government in the inauguration of its new policy, and upon furlough of the Governor, Chief Engineer Fletcher went to Washington and acted with the federal authorities in their new important undertaking.

The chief of road economies of the United States Office of Public Roads recently writing concerning California highways said:

"I have just returned from a thousand-mile tour of California highways, more than 600 miles of which traversed the state system of trunk lines. With due regard for the great work already completed and under way in the eastern states, I predict that the California highway system, now in the making, will be, when completed, the most notable system of highways in America, if not in the world."

The United States Department of Public Roads in connection with its work under the Federal Aid Road Act, appointed a committee last August to suggest standards for surveys, plans, contracts, specifications, etc., as a model for the several states to follow in the federal aid work. This committee has decided that the standards used by the California Highway Commission for California state highways be recommended, substantially in toto to the United States Office of Public Roads for adoption by the federal government.

This emphatic approval of California's work requires no comment.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION BY CONVICTS

A very radical departure from established precedent was made by the legislature when in 1915 it passed the Meek Convict Labor Bill. On the one hand, its enthusiastic advocates insisted upon the beneficial results alike to the State and to the men confined in the prisons, while those opposed most earnestly insisted that no good could come from the measure, and that it would do incalculable harm to free labor. Happily, experience has justified the law.

The sections of proposed highway selected for the convict road camps are of a character, and in locations, which otherwise could not be built with the means available. In Mendocino County the men have been working upon a 33-mile connection through a virgin wilderness difficult of access and of construction, but nevertheless a necessary link in the coast trunk lines. The first camp consisted of 25 with three unarmed guards in control, one acting as captain of the camp and the others as foremen on the work. Gradually the number of men was increased to 40 and then to 60 and there are now, in Mendocino County, two camps of 100 men each. The work in Eel River Canyon was started in midwinter and during the first six months the men worked in 72 inches of rain and sleet six days a week, eight hours a day, and worked cheerfully and efficiently.

The camps were built upon specifications of the Immigration and Housing Commission and are as well equipped as any labor camps in the nation. The commissary has been secured to name. That the work has been well done is now conceded; that it has been beneficial to the human beings employed upon it, can not admit of doubt. Men have been taken soft from prison and turned into able and efficient units in a real work in which they have come to have a pride. The physical and the mental regeneration of the men in the camps is obvious and apparently with this physical and mental regeneration must come some moral reaction. Aside from the guards, truck drivers and engineers, the entire camp population is convict—convict cooks, waiters, milk-teers, blacksmiths, tool men, powder men, cobblers and carpenters. There have been during the past year in the Mendocino camps 329 men. Of these 14 have been returned to prison and their conduct forfeited for escaping or attempting to escape. Several attempts at escape were frustrated by the convicts themselves. There are now six escapes at large. The law has been a most beneficent and merciful one from a humanitarian standpoint.

The economic side seems to have been as conclusively demonstrated. The engineer's net estimate for the 33 mile section in Mendocino County varied from $346,000 to $395,000. In the work done by the convicts every item of expense has been charged to the job, including $11,000 for equipment. It has cost $1,345.9 per man per day. In the twelve months the convicts have worked in Mendocino County approximately 195,000 cubic yards of excavation, averaging 51 per cent rock, have been moved. The two camps in that county average seven cubic yards and six and six-tenths cubic yards per man per day, respectively. On this basis the work has cost the Highway Commission 43.34 cents per cubic yard, or a minimum saving on yardage of about $24,000. It is expected that in the summer of 1917 the link of the coast highway will have been completed by twenty months of convict labor at a cost of approximately $200,000, and that this link will then finally open the coast highway two years earlier than would have otherwise been possible.

Not alone has this work been done in Mendocino County but as well in the other mountain counties of the state and with equally good results. More than 400 men from the prisons have been at work upon the roads of California in the most inaccessible parts of our territory. The work has been done efficiently and economically. Free labor has not been injured or impeded and those who are answering to the sentence for their infractions of the law in the sunshine and open air, mentally and physically have been regenerated.

STATE CORPORATION DEPARTMENT BLUE SKY COMMISSIONER.

Only less vehement, but of like character to the opposition to the Railroad Commission and the Workmen's Compensation Law was the denunciation of what is commonly called the Blue Sky Law. Because of wildcat mining schemes, exploiting promotion conspiracies and the attempts which have been so common to exploit the public in fraudulent investments, there was presented to the legislature in 1913 the act establishing the State Corporation Department, under which the Blue Sky Commissioner is now operating. From exactly the same sources with which we have become familiar in six years of progressive government, from exactly the same newspapers that had cried we were having business, came the same malignant assaults upon the proposed law, and its advocates. Indeed during the passage of the act, in the city of Los Angeles, a publication was devoted exclusively to the denunciation and demolition of every individual in the administration. Some of those who maintained the publication, it subsequently developed were engaged in just the sort of enterprise the Blue Sky Law was intended to prevent—an enterprise which subsequently failed and involved in ruin many innocent persons, and an enterprise which never could have endured had there been a Blue Sky Law in California. Of course, it was a natural sequence that those engaged in that enterprise should be bitterly hostile to the law and bitterly hostile to the present administration. After the law was passed, by the legislature, a referendum was taken upon it by parties interested in preventing supervision by the State, but upon submission to the people the law was upheld, and H. L. Cameron was appointed the first commissioner. The Commissioner had a complex, a difficult and an arduous task. He was the pioneer in an entirely new governmental policy, a policy designed to eliminate fraud, shackle trickery and promote legitimate business. Attacks upon the law had rendered legitimate business restless and fearful, and the Commissioner was confronted with the necessity of administering a drastic statute, safeguarding the good and the evil enterprises, and winning the confidence of legitimate business, while absolutely eliminating doubtful or fraudulent speculation. Just as and not the humanitarian legislation of this decade, the Blue Sky Law, after a year's administration by Commissioner Cameron, won the respect and confidence and the enthusiastic praise of every legitimate and honest business man. Through the operation of the law, it is true, the State has lost corporate enterprises from which other states are now suffering. On the other hand California has gained investments which have organized as California corporations because of the protection afforded their business reputation and standing. Just as stocks and bonds of states approved by the Railroad Commission have been more salable and brought higher prices because of the approval of that commission, so the stocks and bonds of California corporations that have been issued and sold under the supervision of the Corporation Commissioner have almost uniformly found a ready market than other securities, not only in California, but elsewhere.

It is not the purpose of the law, nor has the State attempted to remove the ordinary hazard of business, nor to limit the right of the public to engage in speculative enterprises, so long as they are fairly conceived and honestly conducted. In regulating the issuance of securities the State does not, and manifestly cannot, determine whether the project will certainly succeed, but the State does insist that the prospective investor shall be fairly and accurately informed of the character of his investment, and that the money which he invests shall be actually put to work for him, and not diverted into the pockets of the promoter, and that an honest effort will be made to develop the project along practical business lines.

The scope of the activities of the department may be gathered from the fact that more than 20,000 corporations in California are subject to its supervision in the issuance of their stocks and bonds and other securities. In the past two years, more than 2,400 corporations have been permitted to issue or offer for sale approximately 100,000,000 shares of stock at an authorized selling price of approximately $200,000,000 and bonds of the face value of approximately $70,000,000. In the same period the department has eliminated from the markets of the State worthless or fraudulent securities of the aggregate par value of approximately $25,000,000. This has been accomplished in some cases by denying authority to applicants, in others through the abandonment of their applications because of their reluctance to furnish essential information or to conform to reasonable conditions, deemed necessary for the protection of the public.

In addition, securities representing par values of more than $10,000,000 issued for promotion services or in exchange for other unproven and intangible values, have been tied up in escrow and withheld from resale except under the supervision of the department.

Commissions on sale of stocks which not infrequently ran from 40 to 60 per cent or more of the gross selling price, have been limited to reasonable percentages approximating the actual selling cost.

The department through its control over the agents of corporations selling securities is weeding out the crooked salesmen who have knowingly shared with their employers misrepresentation in the sale of securities. Fraudulent and deceptive advertising, promising tremendous returns, made to trap the unwary, have been largely eliminated from the public prints. Every investor in corporate enterprise under the supervision of the department, now has a place to which he may appeal for disinterested and authentic information regarding the affairs of the company in which he is interested. The department is not alone a protection to the investor, but is a bureau of service to the corporation and to the public as well. Its knowledge gained from its daily contact with every conceivable mode of conducting business enables it to advise those who seek the most advantageous way to conduct legitimate enterprise.

The cost of operation of the department for the period of two years has been approximately $67,000. Of this, the corporations authorized to sell securities have contributed in the form of fees, approximately $40,000. The aggregate sum of these fees represents a little more than one-tenthousandth part of the securities authorized to be issued.

The Blue Sky Law has been an unqualified success. The success, however, has been made possible because of its painstaking, careful, discriminating, able, judicial and brilliant administration by Commissioner H. L. Carnahan.

INDUSTRIAL WELFARE COMMISSION.

The Industrial Welfare Commission, popularly known as the Minimum Wage Commission, was established by act of the legislature of 1913 for the purpose after thorough investigation of the women-employing industries of the State to fix, if needed, minimum time and piece rates to supply the cost of proper living, the maximum hours of work consistent with the health and welfare of women and the standard conditions of industry for their health and comfort.

In September, 1913, the first commission was appointed consisting of Judge Frank J. Murasky, A. Bonheim, A. B. C. Dehrmann, Walter G. Mathewson and Katherine Phillips Edson. The commission at once appreciated the nature of its work in pioneering minimum wage legislation and proceeded with the utmost care and caution. The personnel of the commission, the cautious and painstaking method in which they approached a new complex subject, evidenced not only the importance of their problem, but was the guarantee of the justice of their conclusions.

It was felt that California presented an ideal laboratory for this industrial experiment. Its citizenship boasted as unexcelled, was committed to a program of social and industrial justice. An eight hour law for women, violently opposed at first but finally approved by all, was already in successful operation. By overwhelming majorities every advance in humanitarian legislation had been endorsed and approved. But the commission mindful of its pioneering work in endeavoring to provide a living wage for women workers by legislative action wished its results to stand not only the test of local experience, but to point the way for accomplishment in more complex industrial communities. Therefore, scientific and careful investigations were made that there should be no injustice to employers and that the act should not by curtailing expansion of business defeat its very purpose. The commission followed, therefore, the plan of close cooperation with the industries of the state and it may be said that the conclusions of the commission are acquiesced in generally by these industries.

The investigation of 1914 and 1915 in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland, Sacramento and San Diego, while showing that conditions in California and wages paid were infinitely better than those in congested industrial centers, revealed an abnormal number of women in all trades, with wages below what would be considered a living wage. The mercantile and laundry industries, in detail, were investigated, and these included about 63 per cent of the working women of the State exclusive of the earning industry and domestic service. A large percentage of the women thus working were found to receive less than $9.00 per week, the sum acknowledged as the lowest wage that should be accorded a self-dependent woman.

The owners of the State cooperated with the commission, in keeping records during 1914 of the number of women employed, their hours of work and earnings. This was supplemented in 1915 by an investigation by the commission of working conditions, sanitary conveniences, etc. Because of the close contact between the industries and the commission, when the Wages Board called under the law in 1915 met, the fear of regulation had been removed from the minds of employers and confidence in the commission had been firmly established.

In January, 1916, the first Wages Board in the fruit and vegetable canning industry met, consisting of R. L. Bentley, A. G. Gilfill, E. H. Kennedy, representing the employers, and Mrs. Isabel Schmitz, Miss Jennie Balestreni and Miss Erma Corey, representing the employees, and Katherine Phillips Edson, representing the commission. After three days of conference and study, this Wages Board reported unanimously on piece and time rates for the preparation and canning of five products, which approximate $5 per cent of the State's total output of fruit and vegetables. The State's output of canned fruit and vegetables was estimated to be worth $21,000,000 in 1914 and fully 20,000 women are employed in this work during the brief season. The Wages Board refused to consider the question of limitation of hours of labor in the industry and it was referred to the commission with no recommendations. The commission, with the State Board of Health, submitted to the Wages Board a tentative draft of rules governing sanitary conditions of the factories and toilet accommodations. These were also unanimously recommended by the Wages Board.

In February, 1916, after the Wages Board report, the commission issued its Orders Nos. 1 and 2 in the fruit and vegetable canning industry, fixing the rates of wages to be paid women therein and providing for sanitary conditions, and the wages thus fixed constitute the minimum wages in those industries. To the credit of the employers engaged in the industry, the minimum wage fixed has been accepted. Not alone has this been provided to the women an increase in wage rates but the commission eliminated in large degree what has been a great evil in women's employment—that is the wasteful use of women's time by which they were kept waiting for hours for fruit or cans that had been delayed because of careless management.

The manager of one of the largest concerns in the State has publicly stated that although hostile to such regulatory legislation under the action of the commission, he has put up the largest profit of profit with the least financial expense in his experience, and that the regulation by the commission has been of benefit to the owners as well as to the women employed.

An exhaustive survey of the garment industry disclosed the fact that the depression of wages in California in that industry is largely due to the distress in this State of great quantities of garments made in prison labor in our northern, western and eastern prisons and reformatories. The only escape therefore for providing a decent living wage for women in the garment trades is by federal action.

The commission believes that the most important development of their work has been the demonstration that bodies such as theirs can work in cooperation with the industries affected, and that just results can be attained by this common effort. In the spirit of mutual understanding the commission has developed, labor and capital, with appropriate activity by the State, may solve many future industrial problems. California has tried now through this commission the experiment of artificially building a link against low wages and their attendant horrors, and the results have not only been merciful, humane and beneficial, but have pointed the way in a new humanitarian endeavor.

THE IMMIGRATION AND HOUSING COMMISSION.

The Immigration and Housing Commission recognizes the need of the nation of the governmental movement manifested in California, particularly in the form of adaptation of government institutions to meet the needs and changing needs of humanity. In 1912, to meet the problems which it was apparent would arise as the result of the influx of European immigrants to the Pacific Coast through the Panama Canal, a temporary commission, without compensation, to investigate and report was appointed. This was the first step in the movement to establish a constructive immigration policy in any state. The commission conducted a thorough investigation and recommended the creation of a permanent state department of immigration to develop and put into operation a state program for the proper and real Americanization of immigrants.

The legislature of 1913 created the Commission of Immigration and Housing. It was given certain powers to inspect and improve housing conditions because it was recognized that the two problems of immigration and housing were intimately connected. This commission consists of five nonsalaried commissioners, Simon J. Lubin, Archbishop Hanna, Mrs. Frank A. Gibson, Dr. J. H. McBride, and Paul Scharenberg. The commission in promoting its work which has come to the legislature, was careful to make the fact that it should not do what the so-called immigration departments of other states had done, namely, to ignore and leave the real estate business of the State indiscriminately. It provided for a human institution that would look after the human element of our immigration.

The commission was appointed in September, 1913, and began its work in December of that year. In the three years that have elapsed it has been the pioneer in blazing the trail for a constructive immigration policy. It undertook first the clearing up of the thousands of labor camps in the State. It found that somewhere half of the workers in these camps were immigrants. A sanitary engineer was employed, and a complete handbook for the creation and improvement of model labor camps was prepared and published, and inspectors were sent out to eliminate conditions to the real and even the imaginary advantages of providing sanitary camps for these workers. The handbook or pamphlet has been officially adopted by the United States and Canadian Forestry Service and by many state sanitary departments. It provided such simple methods that it appealed to employers and the commission has been able to bring about an almost miraculous improvement in the living conditions of the thousands of migratory workers in California. Up to this time 1,850 different labor camps have been inspected and 1,170 of these re-inspected, showing marked improvement in nearly 73 per cent of the camps. The population of these camps was 115,774.

In addition to the sanitary improvements, statistics have been gathered showing the number of women and children residing in the camps, and the school authorities have been enabled thereby to compel the attendance of the children in established schools for their benefit. The extent of illiteracy has also been ascertained, the number of immigrants who have not learned English or become citizens has been determined, and steps taken to establish correspondence schools to bring about their Americanization, and the padrone system of labor control by which the ignorant foreigner has been exploited, has been very greatly decreased.

The commission commenced, as well, a campaign to improve housing conditions in cities and intensive surveys were made of all of the largest cities of our State. An educational propaganda followed, resulting in vast improvement in housing conditions in these localities.

Upon the invitation of the commission fourteen of the largest cities of the State were asked to send trained building experts and health or housing officials to a series of meetings with representatives of real estate boards, hotelmen's associations, architectural societies, etc., to study carefully the housing problems, and work out scientifically uniform laws. The various cities and organizations responded to this appeal and five meetings have been held devoted to the careful scientific study of the problem, and the result of the labors of these conferences will be submitted to the legislature. In addition, the commission has encouraged and vitalized the movement for city planning.

It was the commission's design to get in personal touch with the immigrant and for that reason it established a complaint and information department to which immigrants could come for advice and information or with their complaints of exploitation or imposition. Posters printed in twelve different languages were scattered throughout the State advising immigrants of this opportunity. The department has been in charge of trained investigators who have heard thousands of complaints of migratory and resident immigrant laborers. The commission has investigated fraudulent schemes affecting immigrants and in some sixty cases has instituted criminal proceedings. These prosecutions have discouraged the previous exploiters of immigrants and have stimulated local officials. Some 9,000 immigrants have applied to the commission for remedy of real or apparent wrongs and the commission has collected for them some $18,000 in claims. The commission, in considering the cases that have come to the complaint department, became convinced that the primary cause of the difficulties of the immigrant lay in his inability to speak the language and his general ignorance of our laws and customs. For two years a campaign has been waged to stimulate and develop the education of adult immigrants in citizenship. The commission has brought about the establishment of evening classes for immigrants in some sixteen communities.

The State is indebted for a most complete report on the subject of unemployment furnished by the Immigration Commission in December, 1914, and also for the relief work for the destitute unemployed in this State undertaken by the commission during that time.

The most recent work of the commission is the establishment of a land information bureau. Some 600 cases of immigrant farmers and settlers who had been defrauded in the purchase of agricultural lands came to the attention of the commission and it was learned that the intending settlers were unable in most instances to obtain reliable information concerning land and its agricultural values. The commissioners now, by reason of cooperation with the extension department of the State University Agricultural College and the federal agricultural department, are able to give general information concerning different districts of the State to the immigrant applying.

Because of the European war the influx of immigration has not been as great as was contemplated, but the statistics demonstrate that even now California is third or fourth among the states in its number of immigrants. Whatever may be in store for us in the future, we may feel that through the Immigration and Housing Commission, California is the first and only state prepared with a program and the machinery to carry out that program, for the assimilation and Americanization of those who come to us from foreign shores.

SOCIAL INSURANCE COMMISSION.

The Workmen's Compensation law, providing insurance against injuries to workmen, was a long and an important step in the solution of the problem of destitution among wage-earners, but there yet remains a large field uncovered by compensation of industrial injuries. The larger field yet uncovered has been recognized in European countries, where reasonably the remedy has been provided, and the states of our own nation have come to understand the extraordinary importance of the problem. In the advance California has made, it was but the logical sequence that the question of social insurance should arise, and that there might be adequate data upon which to predicate action, the legislature in 1913 provided for the appointment of a commission for investigation and recommendations. This commission was handicapped by an insufficient appropriation and in 1915 the law was reenacted and the present Social Insurance Commission of California, consisting of Paul Herriott, Francis N. Noel, George H. Dunlap, Miss Katherine C. Felton and Dr. Flora W. Smith, duly appointed.

The commission early reached the conclusion that the incorporation of a complete system of social insurance would be wholly impracticable, and they decided therefore to concentrate upon health insurance alone. This was but an attack from another angle upon the great human problem. Industrial accident insurance tilted over the period of injury of him who was hurt at his toil. Health insurance sought to tide over the period of adversity of him who by illness was made jobless and deprived of his income. The commission has made a complete study of all forms of social insurance and in the report submitted to the legislature it presents a digest of all the European systems with their effect upon the people of those countries. A greater part of the activities of the commission, however, has been devoted to an intensive survey of actual conditions under which wage earners live in California. Through its agents and public hearings, the commission has gathered complete evidence of the loss occasioned by sickness among wage earners and their dependents, and the practicability of social insurance as a remedy; and these investigations in detail are set forth in the commission's very elaborate report.

The commission after its painstaking investigation recommends that California should extend its activities in the field of social insurance to a system of health insurance. It insists that if health insurance were established its benefit would be conferred upon approximately three-fourths of a million more persons and their families, and while admitting that the immediate cost would be great, it asserts that ultimately the entire cost would be absorbed in the economic readjustment and leave a large margin of economic gain.

Dr. I. M. Rubinow, of New York City, perhaps the ablest leader of the social insurance movement, has been in the employment of the commission as its expert. He has drafted for the commission complete estimates of the cost of a system of health insurance in California, and these estimates are submitted to the legislature.

I believe in health insurance, and that ultimately it will be established in our nation, and this within a brief period. If the State is to engage in this matter, however, the initial cost is so great that it ought not to be undertaken by direct appropriation by the legislature. The field is so vast and the cost so enormous that before embarking upon this new policy we should have the sanction of all of our people. This, I understand, is the program outlined by the commission, and in pursuance of it the commission will doubtless present to the legislature a constitutional amendment for submission to the entire electorate of the State at the general election in 1918.

STATE BANKING DEPARTMENT

The history of the State Banking Department from February 21, 1913, is the story of an effort to correct insidious evils that afflicted the affairs of state banks, to establish principles of governmental discipline in the management of these institutions, to revise the bank act into a statute that would force conformity to modern conditions, to build a needed library of action not in discord with established laws of safety, and primarily to determine the character of every banking unit in the state system as far as that character can be expressed in terms of uniformity. With this objective has come accomplishment. Banks under state jurisdiction have been relieved from the whims of special privileges; they have adjusted their resources to a plane of absolute safety; they are prosperous under the administration of a law which is construed equally and soundly.

In the endeavor to make banks and bankers understand that the first duty of the State is to guard depositors, there has not been, of course, immediate success. Gradually the lesson has been inculcated until today many who formerly resented interference by the State recognize not alone the right in the interest of the depositors, but the beneficial results as well to the banks. A minority, however, yet resent any interference by the State or any suggestion of regulation or improvement of methods, but happily this minority is constantly dwindling.

In the last few years, the bank act, in many important parts, has been amended and these amendments suggested in cooperation by bankers and the bank commissioner, have proved in general of great advantage. The bankers themselves first suggested critical examination and drastic regulation by the State, but these were some among these bankers who mount by this, only drastic regulation and critical examination of their rivals in business, and when so tactically the provisions of the law were applied to them their indignation and resentment knew no bounds. The present bank superintendent has done just what has been done in every other department of government in the State: he has eliminated special privilege and he has administered the law under his jurisdiction fairly and evenly, equally and without discrimination. No bank has been too small to escape the provisions of the law and none has been so powerful or so rich as to evade its responsibilities. With all alike, the law has been enforced.

The result of an equal and drastic enforcement of the law, while not satisfactory to those who deem themselves entitled to special privilege, has been to create an unprecedented degree of confidence in our financial institutions, and to place the banks of the State upon a sounder and better basis and to render them more prosperous. At the commencement of the term of the Bank Commissioner Williams, the aggregate assets of state banks was $786,101,030, and the aggregate now is $835,718,403. Individual deposits at the commencement of his term of office amounted to $465,808,000 and now to $694,267,000. There are now in the savings banks of California more than half a billion of deposits, an increase during the past six years of $194,000,000. Six years ago the aggregate of loans and discounts in the banks under state jurisdiction was $365,000,000; at the present time there are $498,000,000.

During the progress of the immense labor of reform among the banking institutions of the State not a bank in the State's system has failed. In the first few months of the new administration three institutions were closed because of inherited infirmities, two other banks were compelled to liquidate but their depositors were paid in full. The solvency and standing at present of state banks, the fact that no state bank has closed its doors since December, 1913, are the demonstration of the efficiency of a just and impartial drastic administration of the law and the lasting tribute to the bank superintendent.

STATE PRISONS.

The prisons in the last few years have reflected the rejuvenated government of the State and our penitentiaries have been administered like our other departments of government, as instrumentalities not alone to protect society but to serve even the lowest and most helpless of humanity. The prison policy that prevails today is one of strict discipline and training but without harshness or cruelty. The prison directors and the wardens believe that they can contribute most to the lessening of crime by managing our prisons in such a manner that they may cure crime instead of being listed as one of its causes. The endeavor is made to supplant sickness with health, ignorance with knowledge, indolence with industry, and despair with hope.

In 1911, the "hooks" and "doors," the strait-jacket, the water torture and corporal punishment were all in vogue. Today there is no form of corporal punishment in our prisons. Notwithstanding the dire predictions that were made when corporal punishment was abolished, its abolition has changed the atmosphere of our penal institutions and discipline today is better in both state prisons than it was when every kind of physical torture was permitted.

Both prisons now study the individual. The newcomer is immediately given a physical examination. Physical defects are noted and corrected where possible. A tuberculosis ward is set apart particularly for those infected. Wassermann blood tests are taken. The physician, oculist, and the dentist in turn examine and prescribe. Thereafter the educational director attempts to obtain the mental measure and moral status of the prisoner. If illiterate, he is assigned to school. Men of mature years are placed in night schools. Classes are graded, supervised by an educational director, and state textbooks are employed. Correspondence courses and special classes have been formed. Once a week a professor from the University of California by lecture supplements the classroom work. One thousand four hundred forty-two men in San Quentin now are engaged in educational classes and a like proportion in Folsom. Under the state use system articles are manufactured for other state institutions and work at trades thus afforded for idle hands.

The parole law has been liberally administered by the prison directors, and though much has been heard about an undue liberality in this regard the statistics demonstrate the parole has been a source of infinite good. During the last five years 77 per cent of the prisoners paroled have made good—that is, they obey all the rules laid down for them when parole is granted, refrain from crime, serve their terms creditably until they secure final discharge; 23 per cent failed, but of this 23 per cent that have failed only 5 per cent were returned for committing new crimes while on parole. The other 18 per cent are merely weak and have failed because they quit their jobs or have not reported or in some other way violated the conditions of their ticket of leave.

In proportion to our total prison population, we have a smaller percentage of recidivists than we had ten years or twenty years ago, when our prisoners had few privileges and were subjected to all kinds of painful and humiliating punishment.

I quote for your earnest consideration from a recent report to me by Warden Jas. A. Johnston:

"The ominous thing that I find about the figures regarding prison population showing decrease in the number of repeaters, is that, since the prison populations all over the country are on the increase, the same set of figures that show decrease in repeaters necessarily show an increase in the number of first termers; and the causes for that alarming condition are not in the prisons, but on the outside.

"If it be true that the reduction in the number of recidivists can be traced to sane and humane system of management of prisons, to disciplinary measures, to health-building, mental and moral training and trade teaching, then it would seem that the same or similar measures applied before crime was committed would reduce the amount of crime and the number of first termers. While it might be highly creditable to the prison directors and wardens to be able to show that the number of repeaters was decreasing in proportion to the entire prison population—and indeed that is all that can be reasonably expected of prison management—it is not to the credit of society that the number of first termers is increasing.

"I have an idea that there is plenty of room for prison reform outside the prisons, and that more attention should be given to preventive measures, such as medical and dental inspection in the schools, education that really fits for citizenship, vocational training, serious attention to the question of unemployment, strict regulation and control of the sale of firearms; war on the habit-forming drugs and excessive use of alcohol; and recognition of the fact that youth is the time of lawlessness; that criminal tendencies usually assert themselves early in life and should be checked early by proper training at home, in school and in the church. All this is an important part in any plan of social insurance.

"In thinking of preventive measures, I see all around here at the prison evidence of the youthfulness of prisoners. Looking up the figures, I find that with a population of 2,390, over half, or more than 1,200, are under 30 years of age; 600 are under 25 years, and 300 are under 21. From these figures it is evident that in its very essence the crime problem is a boy problem, and I can not help but think that if we can arouse the fathers and mothers and the teachers and preachers to the necessity of giving earnest attention to the boy problem, we shall have gone far toward a solution of the crime problem."

Under the direction and control of the Prison Directors, Charles L. Neumiller, Judge C. E. McLaughlin, Henry Eckhoff, R. B. Meek and Charles Scantag, and the management of Wardens J. J. Smith and James A. Johnston, the penitentiaries of California in a modern, enlightened spirit, are more ably conducted, both from the standpoint of the exactions of the law and the care of those confined than any penal institutions in the nation.

REFORM SCHOOLS.

In the two reform schools of the state, at Los and Whittier, where there are approximately 600 boys, the new conscience of the police service and the new philosophy of government have replaced the old mode of beating, of physical torture, of welding rings of iron about the ankles of rebellious boys, and of regarding them as hopeless and incurable, with the new viewpoint, that these boys are a child problem and that the child is the paramount concern.

The superintendents of Whittier and Los, Fred C. Nelles and Calvin A. Derrick, have not only wrought wonders in the discipline and the care and reform of the boys entrusted to their care, but have become as well nation-wide authorities on the problem presented by erring youth.

Just as in the prisons of the state, there is a new atmosphere in the reformatories, a new attitude, and, at last, hope in those confined.

LABOR BUREAU.

The Labor Bureau of the State of California was established in 1883, but it is only within the last five years that it has been transformed from an unknown and useless institution into a useful and important department of the state. The bureau has come to be looked upon as the poor man's court, where the unfortunate toiler without means may secure speedy redress, and it has served, too, as an effective medium in the adjustment of irritating disputes that arise in the industrial field. During the past year five public employment bureaus in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland and Sacramento have been established. In some instances these bureaus have obtained positions for 35,000 persons who had no other means of support. The State, although it has but four offices, is now doing about one-fourth of the business done by all the private agencies in the commonwealth. The abuses practiced formerly perpetrated by private agencies have been eliminated. The bureau in acting as a poor man's court has, in the past five years, undertaken the collection of 32,000 claims and has succeeded in collecting more than $500,000. During the past year 10,000 claims were handled and $175,000 in wages collected.

The payment of wages to those employed in seasonal labor has been supervised by the bureau, and the examiners of the bureau have secured to employers and each season to work in the salmon canneries of Alaska over $250,000 annually for the past four years. In former years these unfortunate seasonal toilers were fleeced out of the major part of their earnings.

The labor laws of the state, particularly those relating to women and children, have been enforced by the bureau. During the past five years the bureau has investigated 41,000 complaints for violation of the labor laws.

The Labor Bureau, from a mere resting place for a politician, has been developed under Labor Commissioner McLaughlin into a department of the greatest importance. It is the court of the penniless, the haven of the poor, the refuge of the helpless.

WATER COMMISSION.

At the 1913 session, the present Water Commission law was enacted, but private individuals who had appropriated much of the water of the state subjected the act to a referendum and at the general election in 1914, the people approved it. A commission thereupon was appointed, consisting of W. A. Johnstone, A. E. Chandler and Irving Martin.

The design of those who first proposed the Water Commission act was to render definite and certain just appropriations of waters, to determine the rights of contending appropriators, and to conserve the waters of the State, and generally, to act as a tribunal for the solution of water problems. Prior to the adoption of the present law, water rights by appropriation were acquired upon posting of a notice of appropriation stating the source of supply, the amount of water claimed, the means of diversion and the purpose and place of use. After posting, a notice was required to be recorded in the office of the county recorder, work to be commenced within sixty days from that date and prosecuted with due diligence to completion. If the various requirements were carried out, the right dated from the posting of the notice. There was no supervising authority, or governing official, who was to determine whether or not the provisions of the law were met. Such a system when applied to so valuable a resource as the water supply of the state of California, readily lent itself to fraud and injustice. Because of the looseness of the system, water rights in California are badly tangled. The unraveling of the tangle will be a slow and tedious process, but one upon which the State through the Water Commission has finally commenced.

In the first seventeen months of its operation, the commission has received five hundred and thirty-one applications on which one hundred seventy-two permits have been issued.

In various important investigations of the waters of the State, the commission is now engaged. Some of those investigations are undertaken in connection with the authorities of the United States government. The commission has collected filings on all streams of the State and has now in its central office the appropriate data. The commission believes that the act fails in furnishing the necessary machinery to accomplish its full purpose, and has presented to the legislature certain amendments. It seeks to render effective the design of the law that it adjudicate the rights of all parties on a stream system and to carry out the full intent of the framers of the act, the commission believes that it should have power of supervision of the distribution of the waters of the State to those who are lawfully entitled to their use. The present act provides for supervision, but fails to give the necessary machinery.

With the amendments proposed, and with the work thus far accomplished, the Water Commission of California will be able to determine and give stability to the just claims of appropriators, and will as well conserve and foster and protect the waters of our State—a resource of most potential possibilities.

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The rapidly growing educational needs of the State, the marvelous increase in the number of our school children, made it impossible for the old ex officio State Board of Education efficiently to deal with the public school system. A constitutional amendment was passed in 1912 authorizing the legislature to provide for a State Board and in 1913, an act was duly passed directing the Governor to appoint a board to consist of seven members. The first board, under the new law, consisted of W. H. Langdon, Mrs. O. Shepard Barnum, George W. Stone, E. P. Clarke, Mrs. Agnes Ray, L. E. Chenoweth and Charles Frank Stern.

In 1914 Mr. Chenoweth resigned and was succeeded by Mr. Chas. A. Whitmore, and Mr. Stern by Mr. Marshall De Motte. In 1915 Mr. Langdon resigned and Mr. M. B. Harris was appointed in his place.

This board was designed to represent the people generally rather than the profession of teaching, and therefore its members were prohibited during their term of office from holding any salaried educational position. The board was directed to appoint three salaried commissioners, one experienced in the field of elementary education, one in the field of secondary education, and the other in vocational education. These commissioners were immediately selected and the greater efficiency thus obtained by the new State Board of Education and its representatives is generally recognized. Educational policies have been definitely shaped and the admitted progress of the last three years is due to the new system.

No state has been more generous than California to its educational institutions. More than 5,000 schools of various kinds and grades are maintained, and in 1915-16 the State expended for public education approximately 812 per capita of population.

Since 1910, the enrollment in the elementary schools has increased 32 per cent, in the kindergarten 200 per cent, in the high schools 147 per cent, normals 111 per cent. The growth of the kindergarten is due to the act of 1911, requiring the establishment of a kindergarten class upon petition of the parents of twenty-five or more children of kindergarten age.

The elementary school, of course, is regarded as the common school, enrolling practically all children between the ages of six and fifteen years. In recent years, the age of compulsory education has been raised from fourteen to fifteen years. The child labor law has been amended to prohibit the employment of children under fifteen years and higher standards of qualification for teaching have been required.

It was the design of progressivism in California that elementary education should be free in the fullest sense and in 1912, a constitutional amendment was submitted to our people providing for furnishing textbooks free to the pupils. The amendment was adopted, and since then, in the elementary schools textbooks have been distributed to the pupils. During the biennial period this distribution amounted to 948,829, and the total expense to the state was $172,422.10.

The endeavor has been made to make the high schools not only preparatory schools for the university, but for the community as well. Vocational courses and branches have been introduced and fostered.

The schoolhouse, in 1913, by act of the legislature, was made the center of neighborhood democracy. Under this law, the people were given the privilege of using their property not only for educational purposes, but for public discussion, instruction, and entertainment. This, with other incentives, has resulted in the organization of hundreds of Civic Centers and Parent-Teachers Clubs, with a membership of many thousands.

The courses of study in normal schools have been standardized and these institutions have been brought into closer relation to one another and to the elementary and high schools.

Upon the suggestion of Mrs. Mary A. Gibson, of the Immigration and Housing Commission, a law was duly passed authorizing the employment of home teachers to visit the homes of foreigners, to instruct mothers in English, sanitation, and household duties.

Among the important points suggested and adopted by the legislature was that of the Teachers' Retirement Society, thus providing for the payment of a salary of $5000 per annum to each teacher after their years of service in the public schools. This fund has been successfully administered by the state board.

California, with a generosity nowhere surpassed, has recognized that the public school system is of the very essence of our democracy.

STATE MARKET DIRECTOR.

At the last session of the legislature an act was passed creating a State Commission Market, with an appropriation of $250,000, and entrusting the management of a State Market Director. The measure duly became a law. It provided not alone for the appointment of Market Director but for the establishment of county and all cities and towns of the state, of depot and schools to be central stock markets for the receiving, care, sale and distribution of the various products of California. It seemed obvious to me that in the hands of an unexpected and best of under the management of a well meaning enthusiastic man, we might get out of the State a very good thing. Because he united every qualification in marked degree, I finally tendered the appointment to Harris Weinstein, and he accepted.

The view of Mr. Weinstein was that the State Market Director should be to the relief of the farmer, by organizing producers into marketing associations, and assisting them in marketing their products. He thought that the State Market Director could be of very great service to the farm producers of California by performing the function of a market salesman. That Institute, the University of California, is helpless to better his marketing conditions, but that practically no one has been able to get results in minimizing waste in the cost of distribution and in marketing and widening his markets so that collective bargaining could take the place of individual bargaining, thus making it more nearly possible for our farm producers to get the value of their products, and also more possible to minimize waste and expense of distribution for the benefit of the consumer.

The Market Director pointed out as well that even if it were desirable and practicable to establish state markets in every city and town in California, an appropriation of $250,000 was hopelessly inadequate and such an effort, under the conditions, would result only in failure.

The task undertaken by the State Market Director is a herculean one, but with remarkable energy he has been engaged in organizing the farmers of the State into strong and effective marketing associations. In the very first winter since his appointment, he has assisted in the organization of the California peach growers, and the necessity for such organization will be apparent when it is recalled that the dried peach industry of the State was in such a deplorable condition that a good one-third was not more than one-half the year's crop was produced, and the price during the season was below the cost of production. Now, the industry is on a sound profitable basis, having been incorporated on January 11, 1916, with a capital stock of $1,000,000.

The poultry producers of central California, 900 in number, in January 1916, formed their organization and hereafter will have, what they never have had before, in California, a voice in fixing the prices at which their products shall be sold. The poultry producers of southern California, 400 in number, have commenced their organization in the southern part of the State.

The Associated Milk Producers, about 120, supplying San Francisco with milk, have organized, established and completed a pasteurization plant in San Francisco, and in like fashion the rice growers, prune and apricot growers, olive growers and potato growers have come together.

A voluntary cooperation of wholesale and retail dealers in fish and fishermen was secured and temporarily an educational campaign inaugurated which, for a time, greatly increased the consumption of fish, lowered the price to consumers and entirely stopped the dumping of fish. The plan was suspended because of the withdrawal of one large wholesaler, but it is the hope of the Market Director that the legislature, by appropriate legislation, will make the plan of regulating the fish industry compulsory.

A system has been worked out, and it is expected will soon be established, whereby live stock yards for cattle and hogs and better markets will be provided.

The necessary preliminaries have been taken to organize the honey producers into one or two market associations, and the arrangements have been made for standardization.

The Market Director, in addition, has negotiated with certain New York banking interests to advance to California producers' organizations, when appropriately capitalized and managed, up to 75 per cent of their market value on their warehouse receipts certified to by the State Market Director, with interest rate of only 3½ per cent per annum.

The work of the first year has been devoted largely to building the foundation for further effectiveness, and the results attained far exceed the original expectations. Apparently, California is now on the way to become the best organized state in the Union so far as farmers' marketing associations are concerned. The object of these associations is, of course, twofold, to give to the farmer a fair price for his produce, and to minimize speculation in farm products; to lessen waste in the cost of distribution and to aid both producer and consumer.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

The first Civil Service Law of the State of California was passed in 1913 and in the latter part of that year, the commissioners, Charles Wesley Reed, Edgar Williams, and J. M. Hunter, began their duties. The law since has been drastically enforced. Examinations are continuously held to ascertain the fitness of those applying for positions and the merit of the applicant as shown by the examination now determines appointments to employment by the State. The design of the law and the endeavor of the commission have been, to make merit the basis of appointment and to prevent expensive periodical upheavals, and to end the political spoils system in the public service. The last desideratum has been attained. It is an impossibility now in California to use the public service for political purposes or to direct the political activities of those who hold official position. The commission has jealously guarded, not only its rights under the law, but the rights of the humblest employee of the State. Whether efficiency is obtained by a drastic civil service law is yet debated. The Civil Service Commission insists that a greater measure of efficiency has come under the administration of the law. Many of the heads of the departments dispute this, but of one thing we may be certain, the spoils system has been eliminated, and a political machine among the employees of the State, under such an administration of a Civil Service Law as we have had in California, is an impossibility.

One of the favorite methods of denunciation on the part of those who oppose the state administration is groundlessly to assert that a powerful political machine has been built up in California; and because of a constant repetition of this sort of falsehood many, unacquainted with the facts, have been deceived. Substantially every state institution today, when it desires a new appointee or employee, applies to the Civil Service Commission. The commission sends its list of names and the lists are certified only after rigid examinations. From the certified lists appointees must be selected. The employees in the various state institutions understand not only because of the Civil Service Law, but because it has been a fixed and definite policy of the State, that they are free politically to get as they choose, and that they have acted as they chose is demonstrated by their votes in the various primaries and elections that have been held.

Merely as a matter of amusing incident, and for the benefit of some of our friends who talk of a political machine, inquiry was made in various precincts in 1914, and again in the primary election of 1916. In these precincts voted only employees of certain state institutions, which had been placed under civil service and in which the wages of the employees had been increased. The results were complimentary at least to the independence of the state employees if not to the head of the state administration.

Whether those who assert that efficiency does not follow civil service, or whether the commission, with its records and its responses from various departments, is right in its insistence that greater efficiency has been obtained under civil service, I am not entirely clear; but the tremendous advantage to the State in removing the old political spoils system and in preventing political upheavals in the public service by political parties, outweighs any possible disadvantage of civil service; and we may feel that from this standpoint alone the law has been justified and has been of immeasurable value.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

A walk through the grounds of the University of California, a mere inspection of its enrollment, a glance at the students, and it requires no effort of imagination to see upon this western shore, a center of education rivaling any on earth. Our university, the culmination of our public school system, has advanced with such leaps and bounds, that our own people little understand its progress, and its possibilities. It is gradually acquiring new structures of unexcelled architectural beauty. It has within its staff men whose reputations are nation wide. In number of students, it is practically the largest university in the United States. Those of us who long ago were a part of its less pretentious days, have eagerly watched its marvelous progress and have ever the fondest interest in its development and prosperity.

The State has been very generous to its great institution of learning, but no more generous than that institution deserved. We who knew it only from its academic side, and have with pride seen its academic side reach its present high state and fame, looked forward to a day when it should perform its other great functions for the people as well; and soon after 1911, the endeavor was made to enlarge its agricultural college and to bring the manifold advantages of its learning to all our people, and in this endeavor we have been measurably successful.

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

During the past six years there were 325 graduates in agriculture from the university. In the forty years prior to this time, it graduated 150 persons from its College of Agriculture. During the same period certificates of graduation have been given to 147 farm school students, while prior to 1911, no certificates were issued. During these six years, 974 persons have completed short courses in agriculture. Prior to that time 171 persons had taken these courses. During the past three years, 7,368 persons have completed 9,488 correspondence courses in agriculture. Altogether within this period 25,934 have been enrolled, and boys' high school agriculture clubs have been organized in more than one third of the high schools of the State. In 1914, 241 high school boys grew crops or raised animals under the direction of the College of Agriculture. In 1915, their number had increased to 622, while during the past year, 1,157 boys finished in these prize winning contests. A beginning has been made in organizing boys' clubs in the public schools, and farm bureaus have been organized in fourteen counties with 175 farm bureau centers, having a membership of about 6,000, while the aggregate attendance during the past year was 64,144.

Members of the staff of the Agricultural College are writing 100,000 letters a year, chiefly in answer to inquiries from those engaged or interested in agriculture. Bulletins to the amount of 3,000,000 copies covering every range of agricultural topics have been distributed. In the language of Dean Hart, who presides over the college, "These figures are not enumerated for any intrinsic value which they have, but to show a state of mind on the part of the citizens of California, which is more important than mere wealth. It is not the quantity of work done that is most significant, but it is rather the new vision which is coming into the minds of the people, and the increased pride of the citizens of the State in their calling. Already a much sounder attitude obtains concerning the development of the State's resources, particularly in regard to the settlement of its lands."

The College of Agriculture has a staff of more than 150 trained men and women who are getting into intimate, daily touch with the people of a great industry.

California has an area equal to the nine Northern Atlantic States, the New England States plus New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and California has every problem that exists in these states and has in addition to that, a variety of problems which arise from the artificial use of water in an arid climate. Over 100 different plants are produced commercially in California. In the solution of the problems presented, the Agricultural College has done amazing work.

The realization of our dream that our great university shall be the melting pot of the every day problems of our people in agriculture is nearing realization.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

From the very first session of the California legislature, there have been various enactments in regard to weights and measures. No comprehensive bill ever became a law until 1913. Under that act Charles G. Johnson was appointed the State Sealer, and since then, not only has the law of the 1913 session been enforced, but the two subsequently passed at the 1915 session. The act containing not and the public weighmaster act—have been included in the duties of the department and there is now supervision practically, so far as weight and measures are concerned, of the transfer of nearly all commodities. Not only have these laws concerning weights and measures been justly enforced, but the department has carried on an educational policy in the endeavor to eliminate certain trade customs and trade practices which in former years were condoned, but which have been demonstrated to be unfair and those customs have been gradually destroyed. The department has been one for the promotion of honesty in business. Generally, with business men, it has met with hearty cooperation and in the instances where this has been lacking, drastic enforcement of the law and even prosecution have followed. By the rigid enforcement of the law, the household now receives, because of the intervention of the State, that which it pays for, and by the Public Weighmaster Act, the wrongs so long done the farming communities have been corrected.

Some conception of the amount of work done may be had when it is stated that during the past twenty-two months the total apparatus inspected has been 483,386, of which 174,688 have been corrected and 45,128 confiscated, and that there have been inspected during that period 2,826,291 containers, 294,488 of which have been confiscated.

FLOOD CONTROL.

One of the grave problems of our State has ever been the control of the flood waters of the Sacramento River. The flood control project in which the legislature has participated and which is now under the control of the State Reclamation Board was planned originally by the federal government, primarily for the benefit of commerce and navigation and to remedy the injuries to the Sacramento River caused by hydraulic mining. If this project may be carried out, it will control the floods of the Sacramento River, the fourth largest river in the United States, and will make possible the development of inland waterways, and will open the way for permanent reclamation and safety of valuable lands, including the State Capitol itself.

Engineers are agreed that no other feasible plan than that suggested by the federal government will accomplish results. The progress that has thus far been made is shown by the report of the Reclamation Board. The work done by the United States government has been done with appropriations made under what has been termed the "minor project," recommended by the Chief Engineer for Rivers and Harbors, 1907, supplemented by equal appropriations from the State. The limit of that project will soon be reached, and further work must then depend on the adoption by congress of the "major project" as recommended in the reports of the Chief of Engineers for 1910 and 1913. Adoption of that project is provided for in the Flood Control Bill of congress passed last spring by the House of Representatives and favorably reported recently by the Senate committee. That bill contemplates appropriations by congress in the aggregate of $5,000,000, conditional on California appropriating a similar amount to be expended in the opening of the river's mouth and the construction of four weirs, the portions of the project reported by the engineers to be in the interest of commerce and navigation.

The bill provides that not more than $1,000,000 shall be appropriated by congress for the purpose in any one year, that amount of appropriation being based upon the recommendation of the Chief Engineer for Rivers and Harbors. If this flood control bill shall be passed by the Senate, it will be incumbent upon the legislature to determine the attitude of the State and to fix the amount of the appropriation for the ensuing two years.

CALIFORNIA SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

Until 1913, the girls who were the wards of the State were cared for at the Whittier School, but in the legislative session of that year provisions were made for the segregation of the girls, and the California School for Girls was established. A board composed entirely of women was appointed as the managers of this particular institution, and that board consists of Mrs. E. P. Foster, Mrs. Seward A. Simons, Mrs. D. G. Stephens, Mrs. L. B. Hogue, and Mrs. Mary C. Bell.

In the construction of the school the cottage plan was adopted. There are now four cottages with accommodations for 126 girls. The policy established in the new school is segregation and individual development. In the language of Mrs. Weymann, the superintendent of the school, "The moral development of the individual girl begins with the acceptance of the school as an opportunity—the only element of discipline or control in vogue is the teaching of self-control. All privileges and opportunities are won by this method. All punishment is the deprivation of privileges."

There have been one hundred paroles from the school since July, 1914. Six only have been returned as violators. Many of the girls have returned to spheres of usefulness and many have satisfactorily married. The school under the control of its women managers, with its woman superintendent, is an unqualified success.

THE STATE PRINTING OFFICE.

Since California's adoption of free textbooks for public school pupils, there has been an increased agitation in many states for a like policy. Many inquiries have come to me concerning our State Printing Office and the success of the commonwealth in printing school books. Many of the inquiries suggested that various reports have been circulated that the maintenance of our State Printing Office and the printing of our school books have been wasteful, extravagant and unsuccessful. Whence these reports emanated, I am unable to say. Perhaps they were justified by our experience under the old regime, but in the last few years, under the new order in California, we have demonstrated in this department, just as in every new activity of the State, that the State, when its service has an undivided allegiance to the State, can perform any task in successful competition with any private enterprise. The cost of the production, because of the prevalence of these methods which have been described in previous pages and because of the conditions which were unaltered and remedied by the Board of Control, formerly was scandalously high. Today the cost of output will challenge comparison with any competitors in the commercial field.

We are now producing through our state printing plant for $4.69 the series of textbooks for which the children of other states are paying $12.00. Since the inauguration of the free textbook system some 3,759,000 books have been distributed, and over the former cost of manufacture a saving has been effected of approximately $350,000. More than one and a half million of dollars have been saved from what the private book companies would have exacted.

In addition to this amazing showing as to the cost of textbooks, the printing plant has saved about $50,000 a year in comparison with the upkeep under the old regime. Just one concrete example, and the record is replete with many, will illustrate the difference. The price of ink before the State Printing Office was taken over by this administration was $2.50 per pound. Under business methods and fair competition, contracts for exactly the same ink were entered into by the new order at 35 cents a pound.

The first appointee of this administration as State Printer was Friend W. Richardson, and when he became State Treasurer, he was succeeded by Robert L. Telfer. The results attained under their management reflect not alone the highest credit upon them, but furnish an object lesson of efficiency and economy in the State's business.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

The extraordinary events of the past year, the call by the federal government for the citizen soldiery of the nation, startled us for an instant into a realization of the necessity for some sort of adequate military preparedness, and our utter lack of it under the present system.

The California militia, under Adjutant General Forbes, and his successors, General Thomas and General Borree, had reached the highest state of efficiency the present system permitted, and yet, when we saw assembled those who were near and dear to us, who constituted a part of our homes and made up our community life, there was impressed upon us with a distinctness which neither our immensity nor our love of peace ought ever to be permitted to obliterate, the utter inadequacy of the nation's present military establishment to meet sudden emergency or immediate peril. And these observations I make as a Californian, proud of the militia of this State, of the personnel of its soldiers and its sailors, of its immediate enthusiastic and self-sacrificing response to our country's call, and of its record unsurpassed by any other state.

The first troops of California reached the State mobilization camp at Sacramento June 22, 1916, and the last of California's troops left for our border June 5, 1916. About 4,500 Californians answered the call and patriotism and bravely did their part.

The story of the mobilization of the militia of the nation, the lack of equipment from the federal government, the impossibility of men called in a moment from the ordinary walks of life being physically fit to undergo the rigors and fatigues of an immediate military campaign, were so vividly and reliably impressed upon us last yesterday that it is unnecessary to recall them. Of course, the issue of preparedness is a national and not a state problem. We could do our part only upon the basis that our nation should decree of in that detached sense which might, as a preliminary, be an aid to the national plan.

California six years ago entered upon a policy of preparedness, socially and industrially. Those who have participated in the consequences of this policy are not in any sense militaristic, but the recent world-wide economic and social military operations of our own nation, have brought the same old realization that we must now maintain and preserve our governmental advances and achievements by our ability to defend them.

It is not my purpose to present to you any dissertation upon preparedness. I have endeavored to follow the views as expressed in other states of the Union, and I have read with interest such laws as that enacted in New York, whereby public school pupils over the age of eight are now required to devote thirty minutes instruction twenty minutes per day to exercises which will render them most physically fit. I suggest to you the subject, not only as an appropriate one for consideration, but as one of transcendent importance.

SUPERINTENDENT OF CAPITOL BUILDING AND GROUNDS

By an act of the legislature of 1914, the position of Superintendent of Capitol Building and Grounds was created and the old system of a Capitol Commissioner abolished. The superintendent appointed was George C. Renssler. In the administration of his office, he has had not alone the care of the State Capitol and the beautiful park adjacent thereto, but up to the time of the appointment of the purchasing agent of the State, he furnished to the various officials stationery and the like required by their offices.

A greater efficiency in the management of the Capitol and in the Capitol Park resulted, and, as shown by the reports of the superintendent, his purchases were made for sometimes one-half and often as little as one-third the amount formerly paid for stationery, pencils, inks, pads, etc. The improved condition of the Capitol and park since the superintendent was appointed furnish ample justification for the new department.

HARBOR COMMISSION

The change in the spirit and character of administration has been nowhere more marked than in the control of the San Francisco harbor. Unlike most American harbors, the administration of San Francisco's has been, from its inception, retained in the direct control of the State. Its unique geographical location, its topographical natural advantages, its perfect security from storms, its widespread connected navigable river system, ramifying through an immense territory of fabulous agricultural and mineral wealth, mark it as destined to take foremost rank among the greatest ports of the world.

The necessities of the old political machine formerly made this harbor the dumping ground of its henchmen. The control of that political machine by a single railroad made it of interest to that railroad to dwarf and stifle development. The great harbor of San Francisco for many years was used merely as a bit of private property for the advancement of political and business interests of the one great transportation company that dominated the State. When the old system was overthrown it was found that about two-thirds of the existing twenty-six piers were in such state of dilapidation as to be practically useless. The task undertaken by the Harbor Commissioners, J. J. Dwyer, Thos. S. Williams, and J. H. McCallum, was tremendous, and as their work proceeded, from those who had participated in the profit derived from a state owned harbor devoted to political exploitation, arose a storm of outcry, criticism and misrepresentation. The satisfactory answer today is that the gigantic task set for the Harbor Commission has been done, and well done. The system of private control has been eliminated, favoritism among shippers has been abolished, and all are treated justly and with equality. Seventeen wholly new piers have been constructed, nineteen have been largely reconstructed. The area of piers has been increased 122 per cent. The berthing space available for vessels has grown from five miles to thirteen miles. In the new construction the best modern practices have been followed and San Francisco leads the world in the length and weight of reinforced concrete cylinders or piers, reinforced concrete piers. Ship and rail have been brought together by new construction of state owned rail lines about the harbor.

In a brief period San Francisco harbor has been transformed from a privately operated appendage of a single corporation into a tremendous asset not alone to San Francisco but to the entire State of California.

STATE WATER PROBLEMS CONFERENCE.

In 1915, an act providing for a conference on irrigation, reclamation, water storage, flood control, etc., in order that a unified state policy with reference to these important subjects should be suggested, was duly passed. The commission consisted of certain officials designated by the act, and certain appointees of the Governor, and when completed was as follows: Lieutenant Governor John M. Eshelman, Speaker of the Assembly C. C. Young, Senators J. J. Madden, W. P. Canfield, Assemblymen L. L. Dammitt, E. L. Sisson, State Engineer W. F. McComb, Chairman W. A. Johnstone of the Water Commission, President V. S. McClatchy of the Reclamation Board, Chairman J. C. Baumgartner of the State Conservation Commission, R. J. Anderson, W. P. Boone, Charles L. Denmore, L. J. Edwards, J. B. Olcese and F. L. Woodley.

A most careful and conscientious work has been performed by this commission. The tremendous importance to the State of its irrigation, reclamation and flood control problems is, of course, obvious and if a unified policy could be determined upon which would utilize the efforts now being independently exerted in behalf of each, the benefits to the State would be inestimable.

An elaborate report has been filed by the conference and many recommendations have been made. The earnest labor that has been done and the exhaustive character of the report justify the most careful consideration of the subject by the Legislature. I am not clear as to the advisability of many of the recommendations, but no more important matter could engross your attention, and I commend to you the report of the conference and ask that after careful investigation you determine upon appropriate action in the premises.

LAND COLONIZATION AND RURAL CREDITS.

Your predecessors directed the appointment of a commission to investigate and consider the question of land colonization, the various forms of credit banks, cooperative credit unions and other rural credit systems. Subsequently, in accordance with this direction, Dr. Elwood Mead, Harris Weinstock, David P. Barrows, Mortimer Fleischacker and Chester H. Rowell were appointed as commissioners.

The subject with which the commission dealt is one which, of late years, has been occupying our most intelligent thought. The opportunities for reform have been so many and attractive, and the yearning from the country in such large numbers have sought the city as the goal of their ambitions, that the balance between city and country has been seriously menaced. Today it is recognized that policies must be adopted which will make farm life more attractive and increase its appeal to intelligent men and women. Greater economic pressure in European countries has more sharply presented the problem, and governments have undertaken to create conditions which would afford farmers and farm laborers a more independent and more generous life.

In all these European countries the methods for improving rural conditions are alike in essential features. Estates are bought, subdivided, made ready for settlement and cultivation, and then sold to frugal and industrious men of small capital. The use of the government's credit permits conditions of payment so liberal that the amount required to pay for the land and its equipment may be derived from the soil. The benefits which have followed have come not alone to the agricultural but to the political and social conditions.

In Germany, Denmark, Ireland and Russia, a country life which formerly had at one end of its social scale the owner of great landed estates, who often lived elsewhere, and at the other end a poverty stricken and discontented peasant or equally dissatisfied farm laborer, is being displaced by new conditions, in which extremes of wealth and poverty alike are absent, and in addition to these, those who now enjoy landed independence, have an added spirit of citizenship and affection for the government, because of what that government has done for them.

The conditions in our own vast country, which for many years kept from us the problem of European nations, are fast disappearing, and it is becoming more and more difficult for men of little capital to become farm owners. An increasing percentage of land is being cultivated by tenants and the population of the country is not keeping pace with that of the cities. The members of the commission selected by me to study the problem in its relation to our State possess more profound knowledge of the subject and deeper insight into the problem than perhaps any body of men who could be chosen. The commission in its report, which is a most valuable contribution to the particular subject, makes it clear that action by the State to broaden opportunities to establish homes on country lands will bring in no other place greater results than in California. The commission insists, and with this we can all agree, that the advantages of rural life in California are so great that they ought to be enjoyed, and that it is the state's duty to create opportunities worthy of this environment.

The commission suggests the purchase, subdivision and settlement by the State of a sufficient area of land to serve as a concrete example of the methods and policies that have proved so valuable elsewhere, and to demonstrate to the owners of great landed estates what can be done by scientific planning, thorough farm management and the use of adequate capital in the initial stages of development.

In the preceding pages I have attempted only to present in the briefest fashion some of the activities which have been initiated and administered under the new order that has obtained in California.

The achievements of these various departments may be measured not only by the beneficent results of their particular tasks, well performed, but by the changed viewpoint concerning the public service and the obligations of the public owed to the people. Into every activity of our government have been infused an enthusiastic effort, a healthy ambition and a new conscience. Volumes might be written of improvements in the hospitals for the measure of how they have been transformed and how their superintendents, conscious now that they have the full backing of the State administration in the performance of their allotted tasks, and that they are judged by the results in their particular fields, have, with added faith and renewed confidence, gone forward with their work. Every patient in these hospitals has been benefited, his living conditions have been improved and the future of the State finally receive the fostering and the tender care that is exact due from the commonwealth. The service of the State which has become, in reality, a service for the people, in every department of government, has made tremendous advances.

The State Board of Health, under the presidency of Dr. C. L. Duggan, of San Francisco, has entered upon a marvelous career of usefulness, has altered and filled our towns and has solved problems involving fundamental existence with our people.

The Board of Charities and Corrections, the Horticultural Commissioner, the Building and Loan Commissioner, the State Board of Agriculture, the State Mineralogist, the State Library, the Motor Vehicle Department and every other activity fired by the religion of public service, inspired by a new faith in democracy, have given unto the people a conscientious devotion which has brought immeasurable advantages. And with all the renewed activity and ambitious projects that have been undertaken, the finances of the State were never in better condition. When we found a deficit of $248,000, there is today a surplus of $4,500,000, and for every dollar expended by the State, its full equivalent in value is received.

In closing, I say to you, as I said four years ago to the legislature which first assembled after the initiation of our new policies.

"California is a state to inspire the enthusiasm and the devotion of all who are privileged to live in it or called to serve it. Its resources are without limit. The imagination of our generation can not even picture the possibilities of its development. In the past decade its growth in population and industrial progress has been marvelous. The next decade will far exceed the last. Materially our destiny and our rank among the states of the world are assured. In the more subtle judgments of environment our State stands alone. Nowhere else is there so much charm of climate and natural beauty, so much of the realization of possibilities and yet unfolded. Standing at the very foreground, not merely of a nation but of a race, the last station of the westward march of occidental civilization and the final frontier between the two halves of the world, we occupy a unique place which lays upon us a unique responsibility. To the material responsibilities, we shall arise. It is your task to see to it that we rise to the governmental responsibilities also, to afford this people the agencies of self-government with which to fulfill its destiny and as the representatives of the people to do in their interest their sovereign will. The experience of your immediate predecessors determines that this is no unambitious aspiration, and I look with confidence to see you carry even further forward the work they so well began."

Sacramento, California, January 8, 1917.

HIRAM W. JOHNSON,
Governor.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Senator Canepa:

WHEREAS, One of our beloved, respected and distinguished citizens, Honorable Dominick Joseph Beban, has passed from our midst into the Valley of Death; and

WHEREAS, In his demise the Senate has suffered the loss of one of its most energetic, efficient, painstaking and useful members, and the State of California, highly honored, respected and esteemed citizen; and

WHEREAS, It is eminently fit and proper at this time that the members of the Senate should give a formal and public expression of their sympathy for his widow and of their sense of profound sadness for his death, and that they should extend to his widow and relatives their sincere sympathy for the deep sorrow, grief and bereavement which they suffer;

Honorable Dominick Joseph Beban was born in San Francisco on May 10th, 1872. He received his education in the public schools of this city, and graduated at an early age. By trade, he was a printer. From 1890 to 1895 he served as deputy sheriff of his native city. In November, 1895, he was elected to the Assembly from the Fifth District. During the Republican and Fusion parties honoring him with their respective nominations. Republican and advocating his faithful and efficient service in Assembly, he was elected to the Senate on November 3, 1898, by a close ballot on account of drawing his fight with the Republican and Fusion Labor Committee. From 1900 to 1904 he again served as deputy sheriff of San Francisco. With the Republican nomination he was, on November 3, 1904, elected to the Senate from the Fourteenth Senatorial District, and on November 3, 1904, he was again elected to the Senate with the Progressive nomination—this time from the Eighteenth Senatorial District.

His three terms of faithful and efficient legislative service, his calm and unpronounceable character, coupled with a good ability, made him a valuable ally. Senator Beban a well spring of information and power, calm and all aware with the loss of his potent influence for right and justice, which was the greatest characteristic of his legislative career.

Physically and mentally he was of great strength. Throughout his comparatively brief life he knew but one fear, and that was the fear of doing an injustice to his fellowman. The legislator never felt the sting of sorrow, grief, loss, bereavement or its wisdom uninfluenced by thought of consequences personal and political injuries to himself.

Senator Beban was a man who enjoyed to the utmost association with his friends. Possessed of a delightful sense of humor and of ability as a raconteur he was a most lovable companion. His mind was replete second with interesting and instructive anecdotes. He put honor before popularity. He loved his friends, he feared God, he was indifferent to his loss, and he devoted his best efforts to the service of his constituents and to the people of the State at large.

His virtues as a man and citizen, his father as a legislator, his ability and signal ability in the discharge of the important trusts that were committed to his care, will ever be treasured in the memory of those who had the good fortune to know him; therefore be it

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be engrossed by the Secretary of the Senate, and that the same be conveyed to the widow of the late Honorable Dominick Joseph Beban; and be it further

JOINT RESOLUTIONS TREATED AS BILLS.

7. Joint resolutions shall be treated in all respects as bills; except that all joint resolutions shall be read but one time in each House. Such special file shall be taken up at two o'clock p.m. of each day, and be considered at least one hour and a half after being so taken up. This rule shall not be suspended in either House except by a three-fourths vote of each House.

AFTER A BILL HAS BEEN PASSED BY THE SENATE OR ASSEMBLY.

If they refuse to resolve, the presiding officer shall appoint a committee of three (3) on conference and the Secretary or Clerk shall immediately notify the other House of the action taken and request the appointment of a like committee. Two of the members comprising such committee from each House shall be selected from those voting with the majority on the point about which the difference has arisen, and the other member from each House of such committee shall be selected from the minority. In the event there is a minority vote. The report of the Committee on Free Conference shall not be subject to amendment, and if either House refuse to adopt such report the conferees may be discharged and other conferees appointed.

It shall require the affirmative vote of not less than four of the members constituting the committee to agree upon a report. No member who has served on a Committee on Conference shall be appointed a member of a Committee on Free Conference on the same bill.

WHEN CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT IS IN ORDER.

17. The presentation of the report of a Committee on Conference or Free Conference shall always be in order, except when the Journal is being read or a question of order or a motion to adjourn is pending, or during roll call, and, when received, the question of proceeding to the consideration of the report, if raised, shall be immediately passed upon, and shall be determined without debate.

MESSAGES MUST BE ANNOUNCED BY THE SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.

18. When a message shall be sent from either House it shall be announced at the door by the Sergeant-at-Arms, and shall be respectfully communicated to the presiding officer by the person by whom it may be sent.

After a bill shall have passed both Houses, it shall be duly enrolled and carefully compared by the Engrossing and Enrolling Clerk and Engrossing and Enrolling Committee of the Assembly, or of the Senate, as the bill may have originated, and shall first receive the signatures of the presiding officer and Clerk or Secretary of the House in which it emanated, before it shall be presented to the Governor of the State.

ENROLLING COMMITTEE TO COMPARE.

22. When the bills are enrolled they shall be reexamined by the Engrossing and Enrolling Committee of the House in which they originated, who shall compare the enrollment with the engrossed bill as passed in the two Houses, and correcting any errors that may be discovered in the enrolled bill, make their report forthwith to the House in which the bill originated, stating by whom such bill was examined.

PRESIDENT AND SPEAKER TO SIGN BILLS.

23. After the examination and report, each bill shall be signed in the respective Houses, first by the Speaker of the Assembly, then by the President of the Senate.

ENROLLING COMMITTEE TO PRESENT BILLS TO GOVERNOR.

24. After a bill shall have been thus signed in each House, it shall be presented by the Engrossing and Enrolling Committee of the House in which it originated to the Governor of the State for his approval (it being first endorsed on the back of the bill by the Secretary or Clerk, as the case may be, certifying in which House the bill originated). The said committee shall report the day of presentation to the Governor, which time shall be carefully entered on the Journal of the House in which the bill originated.

HISTORY OF BILLS, RESOLUTIONS AND CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

25. Each House shall cause to be printed on Monday of each week, during the session, a complete history of all bills, joint or concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments originating in, or acted upon by the respective Houses.

Such history shall show the action taken upon each measure up to and including the legislative day preceding its issuance. For each legislative day intervening there shall be printed a supplementary history showing the action taken upon any measure since the issuance of the complete history. A regular form shall be prescribed and no other form shall be used.

Immediately following the adjournment for the constitutional recess the history shall be compiled and printed to date of recess.

SECRETARY AND CLERK TO KEEP REGISTER.

26. The Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the Assembly shall keep a register, in which shall be recorded every action taken by the Senate and Assembly on every bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment.

SECRETARY AND CLERK SHALL ENDORSE BILLS.

27. The Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the Assembly shall endorse on every original bill a statement of any action taken by the Senate and Assembly.

URGENCY PROVISIONS IN BILLS.

28. Upon the third reading of an act which is an urgency measure within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the State Constitution, the presiding officer shall direct that the section of said act setting forth the facts constituting the necessity for such urgency (which shall be known as the urgency section) be then read and put to vote. The question shall be thus stated: "Shall this section setting forth the urgency features of this bill be passed?" If upon such final vote two-thirds of all the members elected to the House in which the vote is being taken shall vote in the affirmative, no further action shall be taken on the bill, but in case an identical bill without such an emergency clause be again introduced into such House, such bill shall be placed on file without reference to any committee.

ENDORSEMENT OF BILLS.

29. Bills introduced in either House shall be endorsed with the date of introduction.

COMMITTEE ON REVISION AND PRINTING.

30. Unless otherwise ordered by the House in which the bill was introduced, all bills before being printed shall be immediately sent to the Committee on Revision and Printing. NUMBERING LINES OF BILLS.

31. The lines of all printed bills shall be numbered by page and not by sections, and amendments shall be identified by reference to title, page and line only.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEE ON REVISION.

32. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall return to the Secretary of the Senate or Clerk of the Assembly all bills in the order in which they were sent to it, but shall not retain any bill for longer than three legislative days, unless otherwise ordered.

JOINT MEETING OF COMMITTEES.

33. Whenever any bill has been referred by the Senate to one of its committees, and the same or a like bill has been referred by the Assembly to one of its committees, the chairmen of the respective committees, when in their judgment the efficiency of legislation or the expedition of business will be better served thereby, shall arrange for a joint meeting of their committees for the consideration of such bill.

24. When bills are reported from committees they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Secretary as follows: All bills when reported to the Senate by the committees shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: Third-reading file and second-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present; such vote to be taken by roll call; provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than absence of the author by leave of the Senate, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, the bill shall be ordered at the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File.

25. The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may determine, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration.

26. Any subject may, by vote of a majority of those voting, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

27. All bills appropriating money from any fund shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read a second time.

28. The final question on the second reading of every bill originating in the Senate shall be: "Shall the bill be engrossed?"

29. All bills amended on second or third reading shall immediately be reprinted.

30. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate within five days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature.

Consideration of Assembly Bills.

31. Messengers from the Assembly may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the yeas and nays are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a member is addressing the Senate.

32. Messages from the Assembly may be considered at any time by vote of the Senate.

33. When an Assembly bill has been received by the Senate, with a message announcing that it has passed the Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time and be referred by the President to a standing committee; provided, however, that when an Assembly bill is received, the text of which is stated by a member to be identical with that of a Senate bill, which has already been considered and reported by a standing committee of the Senate, such Assembly bill shall be referred to the Committee on Engraving and Enrollment for comparison, which committee shall report without delay, whether or not such bill is identical with the Senate bill. If reported identical, such Assembly bill shall be substituted for the Senate bill, shall take its place on the second-reading file and be considered as having received the same committee recommendation as the Senate bill; provided that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal. Such Senate bill shall thereupon be placed upon the file of unfinished business.

Amendments.

34. A substitute or amendment must relate to the same subject as the original bill, resolution or constitutional amendment under consideration.

35. In filling up blanks, the least sum or number and the shortest time shall be put first.

36. A constitutional amendment or bill requiring a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to the Senate for final adoption or passage may be amended by a majority of those voting.

37. An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

If the question in debate contains several propositions, any Senator may have the same divided; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. The rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. Motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

38. No amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its commitment under special instructions to amend.

Motions.

39. In all cases not provided for by the rules, the authority shall be Robert's Rules of Order.

40. On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on motion of any Senator; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a Senator voting with the prevailing side; and it shall not be in order to reconsider on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion for reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. It shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill, concurrent or joint resolution has been passed or defeated, and twenty-seven votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been passed or defeated. Notice of reconsideration shall not be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

41. When a bill, resolution, amendment, order or message upon which a vote has been taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last-named motion shall be moved upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative, shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

42. If a Senator gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not transmit the bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, at the time last moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has already been transmitted to the Assembly.

43. A Senator, after a notice to reconsider is given as provided in Rule 41, may, at the reconsideration thereof, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same may be debated by the Senate provided that the subject matter is debatable.

Debates.

44. 1. When a Senator desires to address the Senate he shall rise in his place, address the President, and when recognized he shall proceed to speak.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same state of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

3. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no question shall be asked him except those through the presiding officer.

4. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

45. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

46. When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator.

If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing by the Secretary of the Senate.

47. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

Provided, however, that during a call of the Senate, it may consider and transact any matter or business that the Senators then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had, during a call of the Senate, on any matter so taken up or considered while the Senate is under call.

48. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated.

49. When the reading of a paper (except a petition) is called for, and the same is objected to by any Senator, the question shall be determined by a vote of the Senate.

50. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the Senators present upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendments shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote. On a motion for the previous question prior to a vote being taken by the Senate, a call of the Senate shall be in order.

Voting.

51. When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

52. When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

The Governor.

53. Messengers from the Governor may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

54. When executive communications shall be sent by the Governor to the Senate for their confirmation, the same shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, which motion shall be determined without debate.

The President and President pro tempore.

55. The President, President pro tempore, or senior member present, shall call the Senate to order at the hour stated, and if a quorum be present proceed with the order of business.

56. The rooms, passages, and buildings set apart for the use of the Senate shall be under the control and direction of the President of the Senate, and he shall have the control and direction of the journals, papers, and bills of the Senate. He shall see that all officers of the Senate perform their respective duties, and may assign places to properly accredited newspaper representatives.

57. In case of a disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobbies, the President (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole) shall have the power to order the same cleared.

58. The President shall have the right to name any Senator to perform the duties of the chair, who shall be vested, during such time, with all the powers of the President; but such substitute shall not lose the right of voting on any question while so presiding.

59. All standing committees of the Senate shall be named by the President of the Senate unless otherwise ordered, and the first named shall be the chairman thereof. All other committees shall be appointed in such manner as the Senate shall determine.

60. The President pro tempore shall, in the absence of the President, take the chair and call the Senate to order at the hour of the meetings of the Senate, and have the same power as the President; but the President pro tempore shall vote only as any other member of the Senate.

Secretary of the Senate.

61. 1. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate to attend every session, call the roll, read all bills, amendments, resolutions, and all papers ordered read by the Senate or the presiding officer.

2. To superintend all copying and work to be done for the Senate. To have supervision over all attaches and employees of the Senate. To assign, reassign or transfer all attaches or employees to their respective duties. To certify to and transmit to the Assembly all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments and papers requiring the concurrence of the Assembly, immediately after their passage or adoption by the Senate.

3. To keep a correct journal of the proceedings of the Senate.

4. To notify the Assembly of the action by the Senate on all matters originating in the Assembly, and requiring action on the part of the Senate.

5. To permit no papers or records belonging to the Senate to be taken out of its custody otherwise than in the regular course of business.

62. The Secretary of the Senate shall not permit any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee; but he shall deliver any bill or paper to be printed to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment, and take receipts therefor.

Smoking.

63. No smoking shall be allowed within the Senate Chamber.

The Sergeant-at-Arms.

64. A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be elected, to hold his office during the pleasure of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to attend the Senate during all of its sittings, to execute the commands of the Senate from time to time, together with all such process issued by authority thereof, as shall be directed to him by the President. The Sergeant-at-Arms is authorized to arrest for contempt all persons outside the bar, or in the gallery, found in loud conversation, or otherwise making a noise to the disturbance of the Senate. The actual expenses of the Sergeant-at-Arms for every arrest, for each day's custody and release, and the traveling expenses for himself and special messenger going and returning shall be paid out of the contingent fund and no other fees shall be paid him beyond his per diem. It shall also be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Senators.

65. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall place copies of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments, and journals and histories, when printed, on the desks of Senators at least one hour previous to the opening of session.

66. It shall be the duty of the gatekeeper to prevent all persons, except Senators, ex-Senators, members of the Assembly, State officers, officers of the two houses, and such accredited newspaper representatives as have seats assigned to them by the President from coming within the bar of the Senate, unless upon written invitation of the President or a Senator; provided, that no visitor shall be allowed upon the floor while the Senate is in session.

Printing.

67. Messages from the Governor (other than biennial messages and inaugural addresses), joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when adopted, and the titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments, when acted upon by the Senate shall be printed in the Journal in full.

68. Every vote and a brief statement of the contents of such petition, memorial or paper presented to the Senate shall be entered in the Journal.

69. The titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments introduced shall be printed in the Journal.

70. All bills amended, either in committee or on the floor of the House, shall be immediately reprinted: the new matter added by any amendments to be printed in italics, and any matter proposed to be omitted by such amendments to be included in brackets.

71. Fifteen hundred copies of all bills shall be printed, and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the Senate of all printed matter, and the quantity. One copy of each bill or paper printed by order of the Senate shall be delivered to each Senator at his desk, and the balance shall be distributed according to law.

72. Seven hundred and fifty copies shall be printed of each document or other matter ordered, unless the Senate especially directs a different number.

73. The Superintendent of State Printing shall print one thousand copies of the Journal of each day's proceedings of the Senate, and one copy of the same shall be placed upon each Senator's desk, and a sufficient number sent to the Assembly to supply each Assemblyman with one copy; he shall also print a sufficient number of copies properly pagged, to bind in book form as the Journal of the Senate, at the end of the session, as required by law.

74. The proceedings of the Senate, when not acting as a Committee of the Whole, shall be entered in the Journal as concisely as possible, care being taken to record a true and accurate account of the proceedings.

75. The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for the use of the Senate any matter other than provided by law, unless upon a written order signed by the Secretary. The Secretary may, when necessary requires it, order from the State Printer such printing as he deems necessary to be printed in advance of the regular order of business under a specially prepared written order, to be known as a "Rush Order."

Admission to Senate Chamber.

76. No person engaged in presenting to the Senate or any of its committees any business, claim, or legislation, shall be permitted to engage in such business in the Senate Chamber or be permitted on the floor of the Senate at any time while the Senate is in session. Any person transgressing this rule shall be removed from the floor of the Senate and shall be deprived from the privilege of the floor during the remainder of the entire session. The President and President pro tempore are charged with the enforcement of this rule, and this rule can not be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of the entire Senate.

77. When a motion is adopted to close the doors of the Senate, on the discussion of any business, which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons, except the Senators, President of the Senate, Secretary, Minute Clerk, and Sergeant-at-Arms, to withdraw, and during the discussion of said business, the doors shall remain closed. Every Senator and officer present shall keep secret all matters and proceedings concerning which secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

Duties of Members.

78. No Senator shall absent himself from attendance upon the Senate without leave first obtained. A less number than a quorum of the Senate is hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, for any and all absent

Senators at the expense of such absent Senators, respectively, unless such excuse for nonattendance as shall be made to the Senate, when a quorum is convened, shall be judged sufficient, and in that case the expense shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate; and this rule shall apply as well to the first convention of the Senate, at the legal time of meeting, as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the Senate stood adjourned. The President or Acting President of the Senate, or less than a quorum present, shall have the power to issue process directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or to any other person, to compel the attendance of Senators absent without leave. Any Senator who shall refuse to obey such process, unless sick or unable to attend, shall be deemed guilty of contempt of the Senate, and the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, to whom such process may be directed, shall have power to use such force as may be necessary to compel the attendance of such absent Senator, and for this purpose he may command the force of the county, or of any county in the State.

Suspension or Change of Rules.

79. No standing rules or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of two-thirds of the entire Senate, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; but a rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the Senate, except that portion of Rule 29, relating to the order of enrolling bills. REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

The following report of standing committee was received and read:

ON ENGROSSMENT AND ENROLLMENT.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 12, 1917.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment has examined Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 2—Relative to adjournment in respect to the memory of John Morton Eshleman—and report that the same has been correctly engrossed.

CANEPA, Chairman.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

The following report of Special Committee on Expediting Business was received and read:

SACRAMENTO, January 12, 1917.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your special committee, appointed in accordance with the provisions of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 1, for the purpose of devising ways and means of expediting the business of the forty-second session of the Legislature, begs leave to submit the following recommendations, by way of report:

First. That the committee strongly urges the members to refrain from the use of companion bills, which for the most part merely confuse the members and congest the work of the Legislature, in addition to causing great unnecessary expense on account of extra printing. The companion bill system is a particularly vicious practice when used with uncontested matters and should be used only, if at all, in connection with matters of great importance which are apt to be closely contested.

Second. Your committee heartily endorses the proposition incorporated by the Rules Committee in rule 47 of the Senate Rules, which provides that uncontested business may be transacted during a call of the Senate. It is particularly desirable that the time at the close of the session should be economized, and while the committee would not question the advisability of having as many calls of the Senate as the occasion may seem to require, it is nevertheless very essential that the work of the Legislature be retarded as little as possible by those calls of the Senate. This new provision will save a great deal of valuable time by permitting to be transacted such matters as the second reading file, committee reports and even the third reading and passage of such measures as appropriation bills, county government acts, etc.

Respectfully submitted.

BREED,
CHANDLER,
KEHOE.

Advisory Board.

(1) Whenever such written application, as above provided for, shall have been made, the Mayor thereupon shall appoint an Advisory Board to consist of seven (7) citizens, who shall cooperate with the council in preparing such resettlement franchise; and said written application for a resettlement franchise shall thereupon be referred to said Advisory Board, which shall make within a reasonable time a written report thereon to the Council; and without such report said Council shall have no power to pass such re-settlement franchise. The said citizens shall serve without pay, but all reasonable expense incurred by them in the work of preparing said re-settlement franchise shall be paid by the city upon the presentation of a proper bill, in the same manner as any other proper claim against the city.

Time Period of Franchise.

(2) Every such re-settlement franchise, permit or privilege shall be granted for an indeterminate period subject always to the right of the city to acquire and possess the property of the grantee or to assign its right to purchase and possess to a third person, firm or corporation, as herein provided.

Division of Annual Net Revenue.

(3) Every such re-settlement franchise, permit or privilege shall confer upon the grantee thereof the right to occupy the streets and public places of the city particularly set out in the terms and conditions of said franchise, permit or privilege, subject always to the right of the city to acquire and possess the property of said grantee, or to assign its right to purchase and possess to a third person, firm or corporation, as provided in this article; provided, however, that said grantee shall pay the city such a percentage of the net revenue annually collected from any and all sources under and by virtue of such franchise, permit or privilege, which percentage shall not be less than fifty-five (55) per cent of such annual net revenue; and provided further, that such annual net revenue shall be determined by deducting from the annual gross revenue all operating and maintenance costs, taxes, depreciation as fixed by the Board of Control and six (6) per cent interest on the valuation of the property used and useful or determined in the franchise ordinance to be of prospective usefulness in the public service. Such valuation to be fixed by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, or its successors in interest, and determined as provided in section one hundred forty-five (145) of this charter.

Passage and Approval of Franchise.

(4) Every such re-settlement franchise shall be introduced to the Council in the form of an ordinance, at least ten days prior to being passed to final passage, and shall remain before the Council at least twenty (20) days after passing before final passage. After the final passage of said ordinance the same shall be referred and submitted to the vote of the electors of the city at the general or special election next ensuing not less than twenty (20) days after the final passage of such ordinance. But if no general or special election is to be held in the city within a period of not less than twenty (20) days and not more than ninety (90) days after such final passage, the Council shall call a Special Election for the purpose of submitting said ordinance to the electors as aforesaid, said special election to be held not less than thirty (30) days and not more than sixty (60) days after such final passage.

No such re-settlement franchise ordinance shall go into effect until it shall have been so submitted to the electors of the city and received the approval of a majority of the electors voting thereon. Sections six (6), one hundred sixty-seven (167), one hundred seventy-five (175), one hundred eighty-five (185) and subdivisions 13, 14, 15, 20 and 22 of section five (5) of this charter, as far as applicable, shall govern elections held under the provisions of this section.

Public Hearings by Council.

(5) The Council shall hold public hearings on every proposed re-settlement franchise prior to its final passage, and not later than seven days after such final passage shall cause such re-settlement franchise to be printed in convenient pamphlet form for public distribution and shall publish daily thereafter up to the date of such election in the official newspaper of the city a notice to the effect that any person may procure a copy of such re-settlement franchise upon application therefor made in person or by mail to the City Clerk, provided that all costs of printing, publishing and advertising said franchise shall be borne by the grantee of said franchise.

Additional Powers.

(6) In the passage of a re-settlement franchise, the Council shall have power to impose terms and conditions not inconsistent with this charter, in addition to the terms and conditions provided for herein, and shall have such other powers hereunder as may be found necessary to the proper preparation, enactment, and the carrying out of the terms of a re-settlement franchise that shall provide, first, service of the highest efficiency to the public, second, sufficient new money to make extensions in the service of the public utility necessary in the proper development of the city, and third, the right of the city to convey to a third person, firm or corporation the city's privileges of purchasing the property of the grantee upon like terms and conditions as the city may so purchase.

Amendments to Re-settlement Franchises.

(7) Any re-settlement franchise may be amended from time to time by ordinance passed by the Council and ratified by the electors of the city in the manner herein prescribed for the passage of such re-settlement franchise in the first instance and not otherwise, provided that any such amendment shall not be effective unless accepted in writing by the grantee of such re-settlement franchise, and provided further that the Council in the preparation of such amendment may in its discretion act without the appointment of an advisory board, and that no such amendment shall in any respect contravene the provisions of this section or this charter.

Joint Control.

(8) Every re-settlement franchise shall provide for a board of control to consist of two competent and experienced men, one to be selected by the Council and one by the grantee of said franchise, all disagreements between the two to be decided by an arbiter appointed for that purpose in a manner to be determined in such franchise.

Service.

(9) Every re-settlement franchise shall provide for service of the highest efficiency, which shall be maintained during the life of the franchise.

New Franchises and Extensions.

(10) Every re-settlement franchise shall provide that any new franchise granted to the holder of such re-settlement franchise shall be considered as a part of such re-settlement franchise, and shall also provide that the Council may by ordinance grant to the grantee of such re-settlement franchise the right to extend the appliances and service of such grantee. All such extensions shall become a part of the aggregate property of such grantee, and shall be subject to all the obligations and rights in favor of the city applicable to the property of the grantee by virtue of such re-settlement franchise. The right to use and maintain any such extensions shall expire with the original grant of such grantee by which the extensions are made.

Consolidated or Annexed Territory.

(11) Every re-settlement franchise shall provide that in case of consolidation with or annexation to the city of any territory not now included in said city, any franchise to operate such utility of any part thereof, held or claimed by the holder of such re-settlement franchise in or for any portion of such consolidated or annexed territory shall thereupon be surrendered to the city and that the rights and obligations of such re-settlement franchise shall thereupon automatically extend to such additional territory, and that a valuation of the properties used and useful, or in the discretion of the city prospectively useful in the operation of such utility in the area so consolidated or annexed and not included in the capital valuation already fixed in such re-settlement franchise, shall be added to the capital account of said re-settlement franchise grantee at a valuation fixed by the Railroad Commission of the State of California or its successors in interest and otherwise determined as provided in section one hundred forty-five (145) of this charter.

Provision for the Surrender of Existing Franchises.

(12) Every re-settlement franchise shall provide for the surrender by the grantee thereof of any or all of the franchises or rights owned or claimed by such grantee for the occupation of the streets or public places of said city at the time of such re-settlement, and the acceptance in lieu thereof of the rights and privileges granted by such re-settlement franchise as a franchise for the continued operation of such utility within the limits of the city or such portion thereof as had heretofore been operated under the franchise or franchises so surrendered, but not in contravention of any conditions of this charter.

Assumption of Bonded Indebtedness.

(13) Every re-settlement franchise may provide that, when purchasing the property of the grantee, the city, if and when permitted by the provisions of the Constitution of the State of California, may assume the obligations of such grantee for the payment of the bonds then outstanding against said property, not exceeding in aggregate par value the valuation of the property thus purchased, determined as in section one hundred and forty-five (145) of this charter provided, and in such case the par value of such bonds shall be deducted from the said valuation of the property and the excess, if any, of the valuation of the property over the par value of the bonds so assumed shall be the purchase price to be paid to the grantee by the city for said property. After such purchase, the bonds so assumed shall no longer be a lien exclusively upon the franchise or property of the utility as such, but may be secured by the general credit of the city or by a lien upon a fixed percentage or amount of the gross earnings of such utility, or otherwise, as may be provided in such re-settlement franchise.

That section 141 of Article XX be amended to read as follows:

Life of Franchise.

Sec. 141. Every franchise, permit or privilege shall be granted for an indeterminate period, subject always to the right of the city to acquire and possess the property of the grantee and to assign its right to acquire and possess to a third person, firm or corporation as in section one hundred and forty-five (145) heretofore provided.

That section 145 of Article XX of the Charter be amended to read as follows:

Right of City to Assume Ownership.

Sec. 145. Every new franchise, permit or privilege, and every re-settlement franchise, shall be granted upon the express condition that the city may, at a valuation fixed and determined as herein after provided, either assume ownership by purchase and take over to itself the property used and useful or in the discretion of the city prospectively useful of the franchise granted, his or its successors or assigns, or assign its right to acquire and possess said property to a third person, firm or corporation, upon giving said grantee six months' written notice of its intention to so purchase and take over said property, which written notice shall be given only when authorized by ordinance. The valuation of such property used and useful or in the discretion of the city prospectively useful and owned by the grantee or the time application is made for said new franchise, permit or privilege, or for said re-settlement franchise, shall be fixed by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, or its successors in interest, and shall be set forth in said new franchise, permit or privilege, or in said re-settlement franchise, as the case may be. To this value shall be added the cost of all additions, extensions and betterments made with the approval of the Board of Control, and from this value shall be deducted the value of property sold or abandoned and a depreciation to be determined and fixed by the Board of Control in accordance with the provisions of the franchise, and annually charged to the capital value of said property, and the valuation to which said additions have been made and from which such deductions have been made shall be the valuation upon which the six per cent interest referred to in subdivision three (3) of section one hundred and forty and one half (140½) and in subdivision two (2) of section one hundred and forty (140) shall be computed, and shall be the valuation at which said property may be acquired by the city, or by the third person, firm or corporation to which such right is assigned by the city.

That section 153 of Article XX of the Charter be amended to read as follows:
Payment of Net Receipts.

Sec. 153. The stipulated percentage of net receipts provided in this Charter to be paid for the use and enjoyment of any franchise, permit or privilege shall be paid annually at the time of filing the annual report provided for in section one hundred and fifty-one (151) of this Charter to be filed by persons, firms or corporations holding franchises, permits or privileges. Any signer to a petition may withdraw his name from the same by filing with the Registrar of Voters a verified revocation of his signature before the filing of the petition. No signature can be revoked after the petition has been filed. The Registrar of Voters, or his deputy shall indorse on said petition the names of three persons who filed said petition, and the date of the filing of the same at the time of filing said petition. Unless and until it be proven otherwise by official investigation by the Registrar of Voters, it shall be presumed that the petition filed conforms to all legal requirements, and contains the signatures of the requisite number of registered voters, and after an election based thereon, the sufficiency of such petition shall not be questioned.

That Section 3 of Chapter III of Article XI of the Charter of the City and County of San Francisco is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 3. The Registrar of Voters shall have fifteen (15) days after the filing of such petition, and the same time after receipt by him of a Charter amendment petition in which to verify the same and certify the result thereof in the manner provided by this section. Within such time, the Registrar of Voters shall timely determine from the records of registration whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of electors entitled to vote. If any signature be called in question, the said Registrar of Voters shall mail notice to such purported signer, stating that his or her name is attached to such petition and citing him or her to appear before said Registrar of Voters forthwith, naming the time and place. Said citation shall inclose a blank affidavit denying that the person signing such affidavit signed such petition, and said citation shall also contain a statement, that a blank affidavit denying that such person signed such petition, is enclosed, and that if such person does not desire to attend in person to deny his signature he may swear to such affidavit of denial before any officer authorized to take oaths, and mail the same to the Registrar of Voters, and that if he does not so attend and deny such signature in person, or by making and mailing such affidavit of denial, that his purported signature to such petition will be treated as genuine.

Unless said purported signer shall appear when cited and deny his signature under oath before said Registrar, or his deputy, or unless the Registrar of Voters shall receive such sworn affidavit of denial of such signature, before the time when by this chapter the said Registrar must, as aforesaid, make such final determination, such signature must be counted as genuine.

The Registrar shall keep a list of the names of all purported signers who appear before him and deny their signatures under oath, and also file and keep such affidavits, for at least five years.

The Board of Supervisors shall make necessary appropriation of money, and the Board of Election Commissioners shall allow to the Registrar of Voters all the extra help he may require for the purpose of examining and making investigation of such petition. The Registrar of Voters, upon the completion of such examination and determination, shall forthwith attach to said petition his certificate properly dated and showing the result of said examination, and shall forthwith mail a copy of said certificate to the respective persons endorsed by him on said petition as herein provided. If by said certificate the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended by additional signatures within twenty days after the date of said certificate, in the same manner in all respects as required for the original petition. Within ten days after the filing of such amended or supplemental petition, the Registrar of Voters shall make like examination and determination of the amended or supplemental petition, and attach and mail a like certificate. If upon the examination and certification of such original petition, or such original and supplemental petition, it shall appear that a sufficient number of qualified voters have signed such petition to require an election to be held thereon, the Registrar of Voters shall, if a special election is required to be held upon such petition, require the Board of Election Commissioners to meet in not less than five days after the date of his certificate that such petition is sufficient, and if no regular meeting of the Board of Election Commissioners is set within such required period, the Registrar of Voters is authorized and required to convene one for a special meeting of said Board to convene within the specified time, and at such meeting of the Board, or any of the meetings of the Board within said required time, said Registrar of Voters shall report the sufficiency of such petition to said Board of Election Commissioners and exhibit a certificate or certificates attached to said petition, or amended petition, or both, and said Board shall, if said certificate show the petition sufficient, call an election as required. If, however, after the examination of said petition and any amended or supplemental petition on after the expiration of the time when the supplemental petition is permitted to be filed, said petition is shown insufficient, the Registrar of Voters shall report such insufficiency to the Board of Election Commissioners at their next regular meeting after the fact of such insufficiency shall have become final and exhibit his certificate or certificates so attached to such petition or petitions. A petition finally insufficient does not prevent a new proceeding.

The words "last preceding regular municipal election", or "last preceding general municipal election", wherever the same occur in Chapters III., IV. or V. of said Article XI of said Charter, mean the last municipal election at which a mayor for said city and county was elected for a full term.

That Section 5 of Chapter III of Article XI of the Charter of the City and County of San Francisco is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 5. If the petition be signed by registered voters as many in number as four per cent but less than ten per cent of the said entire vote, or if but any chosen any measure proposed by a petition signed by registered voters as many in number as ten per cent of said entire vote has not been submitted at a special election, as provided in Section 4 of this charter, then, in either case, such measure or measures, without alteration, shall be submitted by the Board of Election Commissioners to a vote of the electorate at the next general State or municipal election that shall occur at any time after thirty days from the date of the certificate of sufficiency attached to the petition accompanying such measure.

That Section 2 of Chapter V of Article XI of said Charter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 2. Said petition shall be in all respects in accordance with the provisions of Sections 2 and 3 of Chapter III of the Charter of Article XI of this Charter, which sections are hereby made part hereof, and shall be examined and certified as provided by said sections last mentioned.

That Section 3 of Chapter V of Article XI of said Charter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 3. Unless the petition shall be found insufficient in the number of signatures of registered voters attached thereto, within the time provided for examining and certifying the result of the examination of said petition, the Board of Election Commissioners shall, within the time provided therefor, order and fix a date for holding the said election, said date to be not less than thirty-five nor more than fifty days after the date of the order fixing the date of said election, provided, however, that where the office has become vacant by death, resignation or otherwise, between the time of the filing of the petition and the fixing of a date for an election, no recall election shall be held. Such vacancy shall be filled in the manner provided by this Charter. If a vacancy occur in said office after a date for holding said election has been fixed, as herein provided, the election shall nevertheless proceed as in this chapter provided.

CHARTER AMENDMENT No. 25.

That a new section is hereby added to Chapter III of Article II to be known as Section 7, and to read as follows:

Section 7. Every contractor, person, company, firm, or corporation, to whom is awarded a contract for the execution or performance of any building, street, excavating or other mechanical work for the City and County, the expense of which is payable out of municipal funds or out of funds specially made available for any such in such ordinance, but not to exceed ten years, upon such terms and conditions as may in such ordinance be provided and in accordance with the method therein prescribed, but the Board of Supervisors shall not require interest to be paid on such installment payments at a rate greater than seven per cent per annum.

No assessment shall be levied in pursuance of such ordinance upon any property for the modification or change of street grades and the improvement of street work in connection therewith, which, together with all assessments for street work on the damages or for both in connection with the modification or change of street grades that may have been levied upon the same property during the year next preceding the inception of the proceedings for such modification or change of street grades and the performance of street work in connection therewith, will amount to a sum greater than fifty per centum of the value at which said property was assessed for municipal purposes, exclusive of improvements thereon, upon the assessment-book of the city and County current at the time of the inception of such proceedings. Such limitation of assessed valuation, however, shall not apply to such portion of any assessment, made payable in installments as in this section heretofore provided for, but in no case shall any such installment payment exceed in amount twenty-five per centum of such assessed valuation.

The provisions of this section shall not be construed to limit or restrict any method or system enacted by any such ordinance as herein provided for to the provisions of such ordinance so enacted, and shall not be held to exclude any other method or system provided in this Charter for the proposed objects and purposes.

CHARTER AMENDMENT No. 27.

That Section 33 of Chapter II of Article VI is hereby repealed to read as follows:

Section 33. The provisions in this Article relating to and providing for street work or street improvements in the City and County and providing for the payment of the costs and expenses thereof, shall not be deemed exclusive, but the Board of Supervisors may, and it is hereby empowered so to do, pass an ordinance or a vote of at least fifteen of its members, which may frame that no time is needed as amended by a like vote, providing for street work or street improvements in the City and County and for the payment of the costs and expenses thereof, not to be paid by such ordinance, it may declare and designate the kinds of such work as improvements.

Said Board is authorized and empowered to collect such street work done or improvements made under such proceedings as it may in such ordinance provide, and to assess, in such manner and by such method as it may in and on such ordinance prescribe and provide, the proper costs and expenses thereof upon lands in private ownership, when the payment of such costs and expenses to the owner is provided for in such ordinance, and when the payment of a portion of such costs and expenses is so otherwise provided for, to assess the remainder thereof upon such lands, to provide for a lien on lands so assessed for such work or improvements, and to provide in such ordinance the method for collecting and enforcing such assessments so levied, and the manner in which lands for which assessments levied thereunder remain unpaid may be sold, and to prescribe penalties for failure to pay such assessments. By and in such ordinance said Board may provide for fully and completely exercising the powers which are hereby conferred as to such street work or street improvements and the assessment and collection of the costs and expenses thereof, and the provisions of such ordinance shall not be governed or limited by the provisions of this Article inconsistent or in conflict therewith.

The Board of Supervisors, if it be deemed expedient by the Board, is further empowered to provide in such ordinance that any assessment levied or provided thereof may at the option of the owner of property assessed be paid in installments covering a period provided for in such ordinance, but not to exceed ten years, upon such terms and conditions as in such ordinance may be provided and in accordance with the method therein prescribed, but the Board of Supervisors shall not require interest to be paid on such installment payments at a rate greater than seven per cent per annum.

No assessment shall be levied in pursuance of such ordinance upon any property for street work or street improvements which, together with all assessments for street work or street improvements that may have been levied upon the same property during the year next preceding the inception of the proceedings for such work or improvements, will amount to a sum greater than fifty per centum of the value at which said property was assessed for municipal purposes, exclusive of improvements thereon, upon the assessment-book of the city and County current at the time of the inception of such proceedings.

Such limitation of assessed valuation, however, shall not apply to any assessment made payable in installments as in this section heretofore provided for, but in no case shall any such installment payment exceed in amount twenty-five per centum of such assessed valuation.

The provisions of this section shall not be construed to limit or restrict any method or system enacted by any such ordinance as herein provided for street work or street improvements in the City and County to the provisions of such ordinance so enacted, and shall not be held to exclude any other method or system provided in this Charter for such work or improvements.

CHARTER AMENDMENT No. 28.

That Section 2 of Chapter III, Article IV, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 2. The Treasurer shall receive and safely keep all moneys which shall be paid into the treasury. Except as hereinafter provided, he shall not lend, exchange, use nor deposit the same, or any part thereof, to or with any bank, banker or person; nor pay out any part of such moneys, nor allow the same to pass out of his personal custody, except upon demands authorized by law or this Charter, and after they shall have been approved by the Auditor. At the close of business each day, he shall take an account of and enter in the proper book the exact amount of money on hand. At the end of every month he shall make out and file with the Mayor and publish quarterly in the official newspaper a statement of the condition of the treasury, showing the amounts of receipts into and payments from the treasury, and on what account, and out of what fund. If he violate any of the provisions of this section, he shall be guilty of misconduct in office, and be liable to removal therefrom, and be proceeded against accordingly. He shall keep the accounts belonging to each fund separate and distinct, and shall in no case pay demands chargeable against one fund out of moneys belonging to another. He shall be in personal attendance at his office each day during office hours. No fees of any kind shall be retained by him, but the same, from whatever source received or derived, shall be paid by him into the treasury.

All moneys paid into the treasury of the City and County may be deposited by the Treasurer, upon the written consent of the Mayor, the Auditor and the Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Supervisors, in any licensed national bank or banks within this State, or in any bank, banks, or corporations authorized and licensed to do a banking business and organized under the laws of this State, provided that such bank or banks in which such moneys are deposited shall furnish as security for such deposits, bonds of the United States or of this State, or of any county, municipality or school district within this State, approved by the Treasurer and the City Attorney. The market value of the bonds furnished as security shall be at least 10 per cent in excess of the amount of the deposit secured thereby; but the amount of the deposit shall in no case exceed the face value of the bonds furnished as security therefor. And provided that such bank or banks shall pay a reasonable rate of interest, not less than 2 per cent per annum, on the daily balances therein deposited.

The rate of interest shall be fixed annually as herein provided in the month of January of each year on all deposits to be made for such year; provided that the rate of interest for the year ending December 31st, 1907, may be fixed as herein provided within ten days after this section goes into effect. The rate of interest shall be fixed by the Treasurer, the Auditor and the Mayor, and the same reported in writing to the Board of Supervisors immediately. Said rate of interest shall be a reasonable rate and not less than 2 per cent per annum on the daily balances deposited; and the rate of interest so established for each year as herein provided, shall be the uniform rate of interest required from all banks receiving deposits from the City and County for that year. Interest on all moneys deposited as herein provided for shall belong to the City and County and shall be paid quarterly into the general fund of the City and County except where the law of this Charter otherwise directs.

It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to receive from the bank in which the deposit is made, a receipt or receipts in duplicate, showing the date and amount of deposit and rate of interest to be paid thereon, one copy of which said Treasurer shall keep on file in his office and he shall file one copy with the Auditor.

The Treasurer shall keep a record in his office, which shall be open to public inspection, showing at all times the amount of money on deposit in all banks in which the same is deposited, and dates of deposit; also a record of all banks making application for the deposit of the public funds.

The total amount of public moneys on deposit in any bank shall not at any time exceed 50 per cent of the paid-up capital stock of such depository bank or banks. The Treasurer shall not have on deposit at any one time more than 10 per cent of the public moneys under his control and available for deposit in any bank while there are other qualified banks requesting such deposits; provided, that the Treasurer shall not be required to deposit public moneys in any bank outside the City and County.

The receipt issued by any bank for deposits made therein, together with the bonds held as security therefor, shall be held by the Treasurer and be recognized and counted as cash to the amount recited in the receipt by the officers required by law to count the same.

Deposits, with interest thereon, shall be subject to withdrawal on demand of the Treasurer, conjointly with that of the Mayor, and any bank receiving the deposit of public moneys, may, at any time, return the same to the Treasurer, together with interest to date of return and it shall be the duty of the Treasurer, upon receiving the return of such deposit, to immediately return to such bank all bonds held as security for the deposit returned. When the Treasurer withdraws his deposit, he shall return, on the demand of the bank, such bonds as were held as security for the deposit or portion thereof withdrawn.

Should any bank fail to pay any public moneys held on deposit as herein provided, the Treasurer (with the written consent of the Mayor) may, after ten days' written notice to such bank, proceed to sell at public or private sale such of the bonds held by him as security as he may see fit; provided, however, that he shall sell no bonds for less than their face value except at public sale, after ten days' printed notice in the official newspaper. The proceeds of such sale, after paying all expenses, shall be credited to the account of the bank which deposits the bonds as collateral. Any bank failing to make payment may, at any time before the sale of the bonds is completed, stop such sale by repaying all the moneys deposited with it, together with any expense that may have been incurred by the Treasurer as the result of such failure. Should the proceeds of any such sale fail to fully repay any deposit, the balance remaining unpaid may be collected in an action at law in the name of the City and County.

The Treasurer shall not be responsible for any loss of public moneys resulting from the deposit thereof when made in accordance with the provisions of this act. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to safely keep all evidence of indebtedness issued by banks for deposits made therein and bonds deposited as security and the Treasurer shall be responsible for such evidence of indebtedness and for bonds held as security therefor, together with the interest thereon and the proceeds of any sale of such bonds; and the Treasurer shall be responsible to such bank for the safe return of the securities furnished by it to the Treasurer.

The expense of transportation of moneys to or from the treasury to such depositaries shall be borne by such depositaries.

Nothing in this section contained shall prevent the City and County from buying bonds or otherwise investing its money in any manner now provided by law or this Charter and nothing herein contained as to the disposition of interest and public moneys deposited shall apply to any money received or held by the City and County wherein any law or this Charter provides for the payment of interest or profit thereon into any particular fund.

An inventory of all property in his custody shall be made annually, and kept on file in the office of the Road Engineer.

Section 6. No claims against the county for work done on its roads, highways, streets, bridges, aqueducts or in connection with the same, or for materials, supplies, implements or machinery used for or in connection therewith, shall be passed by the Board of Supervisors or paid for by the Treasurer of the county unless they shall have endorsed thereon the written approval of the Road Engineer and the Auditor.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 2

Relating to the oil industry of the State of California.

WHEREAS, The oil industry of California is in a demoralized condition caused by litigation instituted and threatened by the United States government against bona fide operators who entered upon, and were developing public lands in good faith at the time of their withdrawal, and continued such development under the law, as they were legally advised it to be, until by such efforts they greatly increased the production of oil, and in some instances were the means of opening up new oil fields; and

WHEREAS, Unless congress settles by a law these vexatious disputes, the present litigations will probably continue for many years, resulting in great hardship to the operators by preventing the marketing of their oil, and to the public by reason of constantly increasing the price of gasoline and oil due to the stoppage by the government of the operation of large areas of this land, and also resulting in many instances in bankrupting the small operators who have not the resources to stand years of expensive litigations against the United States government; and

WHEREAS, We firmly believe that justice requires that the government shall legalize the validity of all locators who were actually developing such land in good faith at the time of its withdrawal, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the legislature of the State of California respectfully request congress to pass the bill now pending before it to legalize the rights of these operators, and be it further

Resolved, That the secretary of the senate be and he is hereby directed to send a certified copy of these resolutions to each of our senators and representatives in congress, to the president of the senate, and to the speaker of the house of representatives, to the attorney general, the secretary of the navy, and the secretary of the interior.

Sec. 10. Arrangement of Ballots. The ballots shall be arranged with proper headings above each office or classification of offices, showing the number to be voted for, for each office or classification, and the names of the candidates arranged in alphabetical order, with three voting squares opposite each name, designated "first choice," "second choice" and "third choice," and with blank line or lines below the printed names of candidates for each office to be voted for equal to the number to be voted for, wherein the voter may write the name of any person or persons for whom he may wish to vote, stamping a cross (x) opposite the name, as herein provided. Sec. 15. Canvass of Returns. The council, at its next regular meeting following the election, shall canvass the returns. The candidate receiving the highest number of first choice votes, if such votes constitute a majority of all ballots cast, for candidates under that classification, shall be declared elected. If no candidate shall have received a majority of first choice votes, a canvass shall be made of the second choice votes, which shall be added to the first choice votes, and the candidate having received the largest number of votes so combined, if such constitute a majority, shall be declared elected. If after adding the first and second choice votes no candidate shall be found to have a majority, then the third choice votes of each candidate shall be added to his first and second choice votes, and the candidate having received the highest number of votes shall be declared elected.

SEC. 16. Tie Votes. A tie between two or more candidates shall be decided in favor of the one having the highest number of first choice votes. FRANCHISES.

SECTION 1. Franchises to Use Streets. Every franchise, permit or privilege for the purposes hereinafter enumerated in this section shall, except as otherwise provided in the constitution of the State of California, be granted by ordinance upon the condition specified in this article, and not otherwise.

One. Every franchise, permit or privilege to construct or maintain or operate a street railroad, a suburban railroad, or an interurban railroad along, upon, over, in, under or across any street, lane, alley, court, highway, road, park or other public place in the City of Alameda.

Two. Every franchise, permit or privilege to lay or maintain or operate pipes or conduits along, upon, in, under or across any street, lane, alley, court, highway, road, park or other public place in the City of Alameda for the purpose of transmitting electrical energy, water, gas, steam, oil, air or other substances.

Three. Every franchise, permit or privilege to erect, maintain or operate poles or to string wires along, upon, over, under, in or across any street, lane, alley, court, highway, road, park or other public place in the City of Alameda, for the purpose of transmitting electrical energy.

SEC. 2. Granting New Franchises. New franchises may be granted by the council by ordinance, to the person, firm or corporation bidding therefor the highest percentage of the net annual revenue received from the use, operation or possession of said franchise, fixed as herein provided. Upon receipt of a written application from any person, accompanied by a cash deposit or certified check sufficient to pay the cost of such advertisement, the council may advertise for sale the franchise referred to in said application, said advertisement to be published for at least five days in the official newspaper, describing the nature of said proposed franchise and the conditions thereof, and giving the date when said franchise will be offered for sale in open council to the person, firm or corporation offering to pay the city the highest percentage of net receipts, fixed as herein provided, which percentage shall not be less than fifty-five per cent. Any responsible person, firm or corporation may appear at said sale and may raise the bid of any other bidder, not less than one per cent, until said franchise is finally sold by the council to the person, firm or corporation offering the highest percentage of the net receipts.

Provided, that the council may in its discretion reject any and all bids, and may withdraw said franchise from sale or advertise for new bids. Every bidder, before his bid shall be received, must file with the city clerk a certified check or make a cash deposit in an amount sufficient to pay the cost of the advertisement herein provided for. The deposit of the successful bidder, or so much thereof as may be necessary, shall be used to pay the cost of said advertisement, and all other deposits shall be returned upon the acceptance by the council of any bid, or upon the rejection of all bids.

SEC. 3. Granting Resettlement Franchises. Resettlement franchises may be granted by the council by ordinance, subject to the approval of a majority of the electors of the city voting thereon at a general or special election called and conducted as provided by law for other municipal elections, upon application therefor made within three years from the date of the taking effect of this charter, by any person, firm or corporation actually engaged in operating a public utility in the City of Alameda at the time this charter becomes effective. Any resettlement franchise shall provide for the surrender of any or all of the franchises owned or claimed by the grantee of such resettlement franchise and for the acceptance in lieu thereof of the rights and privileges granted in the resettlement franchise for the continued operation of such utility within the limits of the city, or such portions thereof as had theretofore been operated under the franchises so surrendered. It shall also provide that new franchises granted to the holder of any resettlement franchise shall be considered as a part of the resettlement franchise, and that the council may by ordinance grant to the holder of such resettlement franchise the right to make extensions of appliances and service, which said extensions shall be subject to all the obligations and conditions of such resettlement franchise. Every resettlement franchise shall provide for the payment by the grantee thereof to the city of at least fifty-five per cent of the net annual revenue of said grantee, determined as in this charter provided.

SEC. 4. New and Resettlement Franchises; Valuation. (1) The valuation of all property of the franchise grantee, used or useful, or in the judgment of the council prospectively useful, in the operation of the utility for which said franchise is granted, and owned by the grantee at the time of the granting of such franchise shall be fixed by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, or its successor in interest, said valuation thus fixed to be set forth in the franchise ordinance. To this valuation shall be added the cost of all additions, extensions and betterments, and from this valuation shall be deducted the value of property sold or abandoned, and a depreciation fixed and determined as in the franchise provided. The valuation to which said additions have been made and from which said deductions have been made, shall be the valuation upon which the six per cent interest herein provided for shall be computed, and the valuation at which said property can be acquired by the city, or by a third person, firm or corporation to which the right is assigned by the city.

Franchises for Indeterminate Period; Public Ownership. (2) Every franchise shall be granted for an indeterminate period, subject always to the right of the city at any time, and upon six months notice in writing, to acquire and possess the property of the grantee, or to assign to a third person, firm or corporation its right to acquire and possess.

Assumption of Bonded Indebtedness. (3) Every franchise may provide that, when purchasing the property of the grantee, the city, if and when permitted by the constitution of the State of California, may assume the obligation of such grantee for the payment of the bonds then outstanding against said property, not exceeding in aggregate par value the valuation of the property thus purchased, and in such case the par value of such bonds shall be deducted from the valuation of said property, and the excess, if any, of such valuation over such par value shall be the purchase price to be paid to the grantee by the city. After such purchase the bonds so assumed shall no longer be a lien exclusively upon the franchise or property of the utility as such, but may be secured by the general credit of the city, or by a lien upon a fixed percentage of the gross earnings of such utility, or otherwise, as may be provided in such franchise.

Determination of Net Revenue. (4) The annual net revenue upon which the city's percentage is computed shall be determined by deducting from the annual gross revenue all operating and maintenance costs, taxes, insurance and depreciation as provided in the franchise, and six per cent interest on the valuation of the property used and useful or determined in the franchise to be of prospective usefulness in the public service, such valuation being the valuation fixed by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, and to which additions have been made and from which deductions have been made as herein provided.

Amendment of Franchise. (5) Any franchise may be amended by ordinance passed by the council, approved by vote of the electors as herein provided, and accepted by the franchise grantee, but if the amendment is of a resettlement franchise, it shall not become effective until approved by the electors in the same manner as the original resettlement franchise.

Board of Control. (6) Any franchise may provide for a board of control to consist of two competent and experienced men, one to be selected by the council and one by the grantee of said franchise, with such powers and duties as may be provided in the franchise, all disagreements between the two to be decided by an arbiter appointed for that purpose in a manner to be determined in such franchise.

Additional Powers. (7) The council in granting any franchise shall have power to impose terms and conditions not inconsistent with this charter, in addition to the terms and conditions herein provided for, and shall have such other powers in regard as may be proper and necessary in the preparation, enactment, and the carrying out of the terms of any franchise.

Application to Resettlement Franchises. (8) The provisions of this section shall apply to resettlement franchises as well as to new franchises.

By Senator Purkitt:

KELSEVILLE, CALIFORNIA, January 18, 1917.

At a regular meeting of Live Oak Grange, No. 311, held January 8, 1917, it was unanimously voted that the said Live Oak Grange and the immediate Grange, Grange, support and recommend the passage by the State Legislature and approval by the Governor of two bills, as follows:

First. An act validating the formation and organization, and determining the boundaries of Lake County Water District, in the county of Lake, State of California.

Our grange feels that the public interest of the people of Lake County, and of the State will be served by the establishment of the water district, and we desire the additional safeguard of legislative sanction.

Second. An act to amend the County Water District Act in certain particulars. The proposed amendments are intended to extend the scope of the County Water District Act and to give to the water districts formed under it greater powers. It would also make it possible for surplus revenues from the sale of water in power to be used in making public improvements in the districts.

We think these measures are in the interest of public policy and we urge their support by our representatives in the State Legislature and by others, by all proper means.

LIVE OAK GRANGE No. 311.

Resolved, That the Civic League of Improvement Clubs and Associations of San Francisco respectfully urges the Legislature to complete its appropriations for this school as early in this session as possible by the passage of Assembly Bills Nos. 31, 50 and 91 as introduced by Assemblyman Marks, so that the school may be moved from its present cramped and absolutely inadequate quarters in time for the opening of the new school year in the California Building next August.

SENATE COMMITTEE AMENDMENTS, SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER THREE.

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

In line 2 of the title of the printed bill, strike out the words "income and inheritance."

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

Strike out all after the title and insert in lieu thereof the following:

WHEREAS, In the exercise of its taxing power the federal government is embracing the sources of revenue heretofore not availed of by that government; and

WHEREAS, This encroachment is felt particularly in the case of income and inheritance taxes, both of which forms of taxes are in danger of being dried up as sources of state revenue; and

WHEREAS, There exists a line which separates the taxable units that equitably and logically may be left solely to state taxation from the units logically belonging to the broader federal jurisdiction; and

WHEREAS, The establishment of some reasonable line of division giving to the states sole taxing authority below such line, and to the federal government sole taxing authority above such line, could escape much of the trouble existing because of conflict of jurisdiction between states, would reduce the friction between federal and state governments, would insure a great measure of uniformity and collection of taxes, and would relieve the country of the double taxation on one part of the taxpayer resulting from initiating and expense duplication of annually and temporary and double taxation, now the state has it.

Resolved, by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly: That we respectfully urge upon the Congress of the United States and the legislatures of the several states the need of holding a congress of the states to consider the subject of federal and state sources of revenue, with the object of identifying and urging upon the Congress of the United States a definite policy in the collection of state and federal revenue; and we urge the legislatures of the other states to provide for attendance of representatives at such congress; and be it further

Resolved, That the President of the United States be invited to appoint a representative and that both houses of the Congress of the United States be invited to appoint representatives to attend such conference, and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the State of California be invited to urge the governors of other states to convene at the same place and to prepare, for the time and place of such national meeting, and that the Governor of California be authorized to appoint delegates to represent the State of California at such conference, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forthwith transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the President of the Senate of the United States and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States; a copy be sent to each member of Congress from the State of California, and a copy be sent by the President of the Senate and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of each of the state legislatures in session at this time.

Upon receipt of such estimate, the Council shall prepare and publish a tentative appropriation ordinance, shall fix a time and place for holding a public hearing upon the same, not less than ten days after such publication, and shall give public notice of such hearing, but shall not pass the final appropriation ordinance earlier than ten days after such public hearing.

TRANSFER OF FUNDS.

SEC. 80. At the time of fixing the tax levy, the Council shall, by ordinance, establish a general fund and the various funds as provided for by the budget, and no transfer of any money shall be made from any other than the general fund to another until the end of the fiscal year, at which time, after all demands have been paid out of the various funds, the Auditor shall transfer any remaining balance to the general fund; and the Council may then authorize a transfer from the general fund to any other in which there is an overdraft created by an actual emergency in the department, but under no other conditions may such transfer be made.

TAX RATE.

SEC. 81. The total tax rate for any one year shall not exceed one per cent of the assessed valuation, unless a special tax be authorized by a two-thirds majority of all votes cast at an election held after at least thirty days' notice in the published call for the election; and the proceeds of any such special tax shall be used for no other purpose than that specified in said call; provided, however, that in addition to said one per cent there shall be included in every annual levy, a sufficient amount to cover all liabilities of the City for principal and interest of all bonds or judgments due and unpaid, or to become due during the ensuing fiscal year and not otherwise provided for; and provided also, that in addition to the above items, the Council may include a levy, not to exceed five hundredths of one per cent in any one year, for the purpose of creating and maintaining a Revolving Fund, which shall be used to cover principal and interest of deferred or defaulted payments or assessments: all such assessments, when collected and all interest thereon, to be repaid to said fund.

ASSESSMENT OF TAXES

APPRAISEMENT

SEC. 82. In preparation for the first assessment of taxes after this Chapter takes effect, and at intervals of five years thereafter, the Council shall, not later than its first meeting in February, provide for a competent appraiser, by a resolution or by a resolution or by a resolution, of all real property in the City, assessed, that if such appraisals have been made before this Chapter takes effect, no new assessment shall be made until at intervals of five years after such previous appraisal. This appraisal shall be made as if at 12 m. on the first Monday in March, and shall be used by the Assessor as the basis for the assessment for that year, and he shall possess his valuation in each intervening year.

Whenever such expert appraisal is to be made the Council may, with the consent of the Board of Supervisors, provide by resolution for the most economical use of the City and County, in which case the assessment shall determine the payment by the City of not more than one-half of the total expense of such expert appraisal.

COLLECTION OF UNSECURED PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES

SEC. 83. All taxes due from persons not assessed upon real property, shall be collected by the Assessor at the time of making the assessment, and he shall report such collections to the Auditor and against the personal tax on the assessment roll; such taxes shall be collected according to the rate of the preceding year, and shall be subject to correction after the rate for the current year has been fixed by the Council, when the Auditor shall add and the Council shall reduce, or the Auditor shall deduct and increase the Treasurer's book, according to the current rate may be higher or lower than that of the preceding year, upon which it may be necessary to make the assessment in such case agree with the current rate.

PUBLICATION OF TAX ROLL

SEC. 84. The Assessor shall enter all his valuations of real and personal property upon an annual tax roll, which shall be published at least three days before the meeting of the Board of Equalization, for discussion to all who may desire, and notice that such publication will be made shall be given in the manner provided for other advertising, at least one week in advance.

EQUALIZATION

SEC. 85. On the first Monday in July in each year, and thence thereafter until and including the following Saturday, or two days thereafter, if that day is not necessary, the Council shall meet as a Board of Equalization, for the hearing and adjudication of all complaints regarding the assessment, valuation or ownership of assessed property, or the omission of property which should be assessed, and notice of the time and place of such meetings shall be issued with notice of publication of the tax roll, and upon such roll when published. At such meetings the Council shall publicly order, and the Assessor shall enter on the tax roll all such corrections as may be adjudged equitable and in case of any fractional assessment, the Assessor shall immediately send written notice of the same to the person assessed.

THE TAX RATE FIXED.

SEC. 86. After approval by the Board of Equalization, the tax roll shall be certified by the Clerk, and shall be subject to no further alteration. It shall then be delivered to the Auditor, who shall, within ten days, ascertain and certify to the Council the total valuation of real estate, improvements and personal property, and the Council, in view of this and the estimates of income and expenses submitted by the Manager, shall, at its first regular meeting in August, proceed to fix the rate of taxation for the coming year, and to apportion the estimated proceeds thereof to the several purposes indicated in the budget.

EXTENSIONS.

SEC. 87. The Auditor shall at once proceed to extend upon the tax roll, the tax due upon each item, according to the rate fixed by the Council. Said tax shall be divided into two installments which shall be determined by dividing the total of each individual's tax upon real estate and improvements into two parts as nearly equal as may be, and adding to the first part his tax on personalty. The first installment shall be due on the first day of October of the current year, and shall become delinquent and subject to a penalty of fifteen per cent if not paid on or before the last Monday of November following; and the second installment shall be due on the first Monday in March, and shall become delinquent and subject to a penalty of five per cent, if not paid on or before the last Monday in April following, and a lien in favor of the City in the amount due, together with penalties attached, shall be automatically against the real property assessed to the delinquent owner, until all taxes are due from him are paid.

COLLECTION.

SEC. 88. After completion of the tax roll, the Auditor shall deliver the roll to the Collector, who shall prepare a bill of taxes due from each taxpayer owning real property, on which shall be shown the valuation of each parcel of such owner's property, whether real estate, improvements, or personalty, the rate of assessment, the total amount due on each parcel, the amount of each installment, with the dates when due and when delinquent, and the penalties for delinquency; and not later than the first day of October he shall mail to each taxpayer, or to his authorized agent, whose address is known to him, a duplicate of said bill, and shall receive and receipt for all taxes and penalties paid until the second installment becomes delinquent, and shall then return the tax roll to the Auditor. The Tax Collector shall note upon the tax roll all collections as made, shall make a daily report to the Auditor of the amount collected, and make daily deposit of the same with the Treasurer. The Collector may accept separate payment of the tax due upon any one or more parcels of real estate with improvements upon each, or upon the personal property of any owner, and give a receipt for the same, but he shall not divide the assessment upon any single parcel, nor separate from any parcel of real estate the improvements attaching thereto, and no such partial payment shall avoid a lien in favor of the City upon all of the property assessed to any owner, in case of delinquency, unless the real property remaining unreleased in the name of said owner shall be at least equal in assessed value to all taxes remaining due and unpaid from said owner.

STATE LAWS TO GOVERN.

SEC. 89. Except as specified herein the collection of taxes and the enforcement of the same by sale of property shall be in accordance with the laws of the State of California governing similar procedure in the case of county taxes, substituting therein the word "city" for "county" and the titles of corresponding city officers for those of the county.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT.

METHODS OF PROCEDURE.

SEC. 90. Proceedings for all public improvements which are to be paid for by assessment upon private property shall be according to the general laws of the State; provided that the Council may adopt in lieu of the provisions of the general law applicable to such proceedings, any or all of the provisions hereinafter set forth, to-wit:

(a) Sufficient notice of any intended improvement shall be deemed to be given by publication, service and posting in the manner required by law, of a description in general terms of the work proposed, with notice that complete plans and specifications are on file at the office of the City Engineer and open to public inspection.

(b) The Council may announce that the Manager is authorized to enter into direct contract with the accepted bidder and to pledge the credit of the City for the payment of the amount agreed upon under the terms of the contract, in which event the contractor shall be entitled to such rights and remedies as in other cases of direct contract between himself and the City and the City shall acquire the same rights in the collection of assessments, attachment of liens and sale of property as would otherwise attach to the contractor under the general laws, and the collection of such assessments shall be made by the Tax Collector in the manner provided for the collection of taxes; and in case of default by owners of property or the issue of bonds for deferred payments, the amount of such defaulted or deferred payments shall be certified to the Auditor, who shall thereupon draw a warrant for said amount, and charge the same to the Revolving Fund provided for in Section 81, or if that fund be insufficient, the deficit shall be paid from any available fund in the treasury—all such amounts to be returned to the respective funds from which they have been drawn, immediately upon the collection of such assessments.

(c) If the estimated cost of any such improvement is not more than $500.00, the Council may authorize the Manager to have the work done with or without advertising for bids, reserving the right to reject any or all bids, and authorize the Manager to have the work done under his own direction; and the expense of such public improvement shall be charged to the lots, lands and property benefited and assessed thereto in any manner prescribed by law; and the collection of such assessments shall be made by the Tax Collector in the mode provided for the collection of taxes.

(d) The City may enter into contract with the owner or licensee of any patent, process or appliance for the use thereof.

ADVISORY COMMISSION FOR ASSESSMENT.

SEC. 91. When a district is to be established for assessment to pay for any public improvement, the Manager, Engineer, Auditor and Assessor shall be a commission to recommend to the Council the boundaries of such district and the distribution of assessments therein, and the Council shall have authority, after giving opportunity for protest, to distribute said assessments as in their judgment may be according to the benefits to properties assessed.

PUBLIC WORK NOT PAID FOR BY ASSESSMENT

PROCEDURE.

SEC. 92. In all public work where the estimated cost of the work is in excess of five hundred dollars, the Manager shall advertise for sealed bids to carry out, as the Council shall direct, and the contract shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, provided that the Council shall have authority to reject any or all bids, and if all bids are rejected, the Council may authorize the work to be done or ordered to have the work done in the best and most economical way.

SPECIAL TAXES AND BONDS

SUBMISSION TO VOTERS.

SEC. 93. Whenever the Council shall determine that the public interest demands an expenditure for municipal purposes which can not be paid for out of the ordinary revenues of the City, it may submit to the qualified voters at a regular or special election, a proposition to provide for such expenditure either by the levy of a special tax or by the issue of bonds, but no such special tax shall be levied, nor any such bonds issued unless authorized by the affirmative votes of two-thirds of the electors voting at such election; provided that no bonds shall be issued to meet current expenses.

LIMIT OF INDEBTEDNESS.

SEC. 94. The bonded debt of the City shall at no time exceed a total of ten per cent of the assessed valuation of all property taxable for City purposes, and at this ten per cent not more than one-half, or five per cent of the assessed valuation shall at any time be attributable to bonds issued for the purpose of providing for the construction, improvement, extension, maintenance, operation or repair of any public utility or utilities for which they may have been issued shall produce a net income above all charges for operation and depreciation sufficient to pay the principal and interest of the bonds so set apart and excluded as they become due.

BONDS TO BE SERIAL.

SEC. 95. All bonds shall be payable serially, no more portion of such bonds being made payable in each year, until the bonds matured and have been provided that in the case of bonds issued for any public utility, which is operating or expected to produce an income sufficient to redeem such bonds with the income thereon, the beginning of serial payment of the principal of said bonds may be deferred for a period not exceeding five years from the date of issue.

PRELIMINARY ESTIMATE.

SEC. 96. Before any bonds shall be proposed as provided in Section 93, the Council shall require from the Manager an estimate of the total amount to be expended for each and every purpose for which an issue is proposed, the amount which will be needed in each year, if the expenditure is expected to continue more than one year, the probable life of the improvement or utility for which the expenditure is to be made; the probable time which will elapse before an income, if any, may be expected to income from it, and the probable income for interest, maintenance and depreciation during and after said time; and no bonds shall be issued for a term of payment longer than such estimated life, nor shall the interest payable in any one year exceed by more than ten per cent the estimated expenditure for that year for the purpose for which the bonds are issued.

TERMS OF ISSUE.

SEC. 97. The Manager shall also report to the Council, after investigation, the condition of the market for bonds, with advice as to the most favorable time for offering a proposed issue, the rate of interest which the bonds should bear, and the lowest price at which they should be sold, if in his opinion the conditions make it advisable to fix such a limit.

PUBLIC HEARING.

SEC. 98. Upon receipt of the Manager's estimate and report, the Council shall appoint and publicly announce a time and place when and where said estimate and report will be read and the amount, rate of interest, term of payment, and conditions of sale of the proposed bonds will be publicly considered and determined, with opportunity for public hearing; provided, that such public session may be adjourned from time to time as may be necessary or advisable.

All such grants and renewals shall reserve to the City the right to purchase all the property of the utility used in or useful for the operation of the utility at a time and at a price either fixed in the ordinance or determined in the manner provided by such ordinance, which price shall in no event include any allowance for good will, the value of the franchise, or any other intangible element of value. Nothing in such ordinance shall prevent the City from acquiring such property by condemnation proceeding or in any other lawful manner, and these rights shall be in addition to those reserved in such ordinance. Upon the acquisition of such property by purchase, condemnation or otherwise all grants shall at once terminate.

RIGHTS OF REGULATION.

SEC. 102. The Council shall not by any grant or franchise alienate or limit the City's control over the use of its streets or public places, or over the occupation of them by any fixtures, temporary or permanent, which may be allowed over, upon or under them, but shall have the right, whether expressly reserved or not, to prescribe the manner of such use, or the form, material and position of such fixtures, or to order their reconstruction, transfer or removal if the public health, comfort, welfare, convenience or safety so demands.

CALLING THE ELECTION.

SEC. 107. If the Clerk's certification shall show the number of signatures to be not less than twenty per cent of the number of voters registered at the last regular municipal election, the Council shall thereupon cause the ordinance without delay, or order its submission at an election to be held not less than twenty nor more than forty days from the date of the second certification to the Council, which election shall be held at the same time as any regular or special municipal election to be held within such period; but if no such regular or special election is to be held within such period, the Council shall call a special election to be held within the time aforesaid.

Each signer of said petition shall sign his name in ink or indelible pencil, and shall place thereafter his place of residence by voting precinct and by street and number.

CERTIFYING PETITION.

SEC. 117. At the expiration of said thirty days, the Clerk shall examine said petition, and shall, within one day thereafter, and certify upon said petition, whether or not the signatures of qualified voters thereto amount to ten per cent of the registered voters of the City, and present the same to the Council at its next regular meeting.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES

ON ENGROSSMENT AND ENGROSSMENT

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 25, 1917.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Engrossment and Enrolment has examined Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 9—Approving two existing amendments to the charter of the city of Santa Rosa, county of Sonoma, State of California, voted for and ratified by a majority of the qualified voters of the said city of Santa Rosa, at the general municipal election held therein on Tuesday, April 4, 1916.

Also: Senate Joint Resolution No. 3—Resolving to the establishment of definite lines of division between Federal and State taxes, and the calling of a Congress of the States to consider conflicting jurisdictions of the Federal and State Governments. And report that the same have been correctly engrossed.

CANEPA, Chairman.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 9 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 3 ordered on file.

CONSIDERATION OF JOINT RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

Senator Benson asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up Senate Joint Resolution No. 3 for consideration out of order, for the purpose of amendment.

Senator Benson moved to amend Senate Joint Resolution No. 3 as follows:

On page 1, of the printed bill, strike out all of lines four, five, six and seven.

Amendment adopted.

Resolution ordered to print and re-engrossment.

RUSH ORDER TO PRINTER.

On motion of Senator Benson, the Secretary was directed to issue a rush order for printing Senate Joint Resolution No. 3.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER THREE.

Senators Duncan, Purkitt, Shearer, Irwin, Maddux and Stuckenbruck asked for, and were granted, unanimous consent to have the following explanation of their votes on Senate Joint Resolution No. 3 printed in the Journal:

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

We, the undersigned members, casting our votes against Senate Joint Resolution No. 3, give as the reason for our votes the following:

We deny that there is any encroachment by the federal government upon the revenues of the State.

We deny that there is existing a line which separates taxable units that may equitably or logically be left solely to the state taxation from the units logically belonging to the broader federal jurisdiction.

We submit that the fairer, more logical and equitable forms will be that each source of taxation be left entirely either to the state, or to the nation, without attempting to draw any lines which may prove confusing, conflicting or unsatisfactory.

We deny that there is, at the present time any duplication or accounts or reports, and in this connection we call attention to the fact that there is at present no state income tax, nor is there any federal inheritance tax, and with this state of fact in existence it is impossible to conceive of how any duplication can take place.

In this connection, we call attention to the fact that the demand upon the federal government for a larger income to carry out measures looking to our national safety and advancement is growing daily.

The sources of internal revenue which have heretofore yielded to the federal government large sums of money annually have been very much diminished, and may possibly be still further decreased.

The sources of income available to the federal government, are of necessity derived from internal revenue and from the tariff.

If the several states attempt to limit and harass the federal government in the plans for collection of internal revenue, it will of necessity mean that the funds necessary for federal government must be raised through the tariff.

We feel that instead of the State seeking to limit the federal government in its sources of income, that the reverse should be the case, and that the states should leave the federal government free to raise its revenue in such a manner as it may see fit, and that the sources of state revenue should be made secondary to the federal legislation, looking to the income necessary to carry out our larger national life.

We deplore any attempt or agitation at this time which may be calculated to or easily result in hampering or delaying the plans in contemplation by the federal government.

W. E. DUNCAN, JR.
CLAUDE M. PURKITT,
WM. B. SHEARER,
J. L. C. IRWIN,
L. J. MADDUX,
J. W. STUCKENBRUCK.

Also:

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

Our reason for voting affirmatively upon Senate Joint Resolution No. 3, relative to revenue and taxation, adopted this day, when on a prior day we had objected with other senators to certain wording of the resolution, was because in our opinion the objection had been removed by amendment.

JAMES C. NEALON,
HERBERT W. SLATER.

CONSIDERATION OF RESOLUTION—OUT OF ORDER.

Senator Benson asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up Senate Joint Resolution No. 3 for consideration out of order.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 3,

Relative to the establishment of definite lines of division between federal and state taxes, and the calling of a congress of the states to consider conflicting jurisdictions of the federal and state governments.

WHEREAS, In the exercise of its taxing power the federal government is embracing the sources of revenue heretofore not availed of by that government; and

WHEREAS, This encroachment is felt particularly in the case of income and inheritance taxes, both of which forms of taxes are in danger of being dried up as sources of state revenue; and

WHEREAS, There exists a line which separates the taxable units that equitably and logically may be left solely to state taxation from the units logically belonging to the broader federal jurisdiction; and

WHEREAS, The establishment of some reasonable line of division giving to states sole taxing authority below such line, and to federal government sole taxing authority above such line, would cure much of the trouble existing because of conflict of jurisdiction between states; would relieve the tension between federal and state governments; would result in great economy in the levying and collection of taxes, and would relieve the growing dissatisfaction on the part of the taxpayer resulting from irritating and expensive duplication of accounts and reports and double taxation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly. That we respectfully urge upon the congress of the United States and the legislatures of the several states the need of holding a congress of the states to consider the subject of federal and state sources of revenue, with the object of adopting and urging upon the congress of the United States a definite policy in the segregation of state and federal revenue; and we urge the legislatures of the other states to provide for attendance of representatives at such congress; and be it further

Resolved, That the President of the United States be invited to appoint a representative and that both houses of the congress of the United States be invited to appoint representatives to attend such conference; and be it further

Resolved, That the governor of the State of California is hereby requested to urge the governors of other states to recommend favorable action and to arrange for the time and place of such national meeting; and that the governor of California be authorized to appoint delegates to represent the State of California at such conference; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forthwith transmitted by the secretary of the senate to the president of the senate of the United States and to the speaker of the house of representatives of the United States; a copy hereof to each member of congress from the State of California, and a copy to the president of the senate and to the speaker of the house of representatives of each of the state legislatures in session at this time.

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of California passed an act, approved February 3, 1905, of which the following is a copy:

"CHAPTER VI.

An act authorizing the United States government to lower the water levels of any or all of the following lakes: Lower or Little Klamath Lake, Tule or Rhett Lake, Goose Lake and Clear Lake, situated in Siskiyou and Modoc counties, and to use any part or all of the beds of said lakes for the storage of water in connection with the irrigation and reclamation operations conducted by the Reclamation Service of the United States; also ceding to the United States all right, title, interest or claim of the State of California to any lands uncovered by the lowering of the water levels of any or all of said lakes not already disposed of by the State.

(Approved February 3, 1905.)

The people of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That for the purpose of aiding in the operations of irrigation and reclamation conducted by the Reclamation Service of the United States, established by the act of Congress, approved June 17, 1902 (32 Stat. 388), known as the Reclamation Act, the United States is hereby authorized to lower the water levels of any or all of the following lakes: Lower or Little Klamath Lake, Fale or Racket Lake, Goose Lake, and Clear Lake, situated in Siskiyou and Modoc counties, as shown by the map of the United States geological survey, and to use any part or all of the beds of said lakes for the storage of water in connection with such operations.

Relative to a measure pending in Congress known as H. R. 19291 for the promotion of reclamation of arid and swamp lands and memorializing Congress for the passage of the bill.

WHEREAS, There has been introduced in the house of representatives by Mr. Smith of Idaho a bill known as H. R. 19291, and in the Senate by Mr. Chamberlain, known as S. 7487, which proposed bill is as follows:

A BILL

To promote the reclamation of arid and swamp lands in the United States, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That beginning with July 1, 1917, there shall be paid out of the receipts of the reclamation fund the sum of five hundred thousand dollars per annum into a special fund in the treasury of the United States, to be known as the reclamation guaranty fund, until such reclamation guaranty fund reaches a total of ten million dollars, to be used to reimburse the general funds of the treasury of the United States for any costs, losses, or expenses not otherwise provided for, which may be incurred under the provisions of this act. Should said reclamation guaranty fund ever become exhausted in the payment of obligations incurred under the provisions of this act, then from such time the sum of one million dollars shall be paid each year out of the receipts of the reclamation fund until such reclamation guaranty fund again reaches the sum of ten million dollars.

SEC. 2. That when the secretary of the interior, pursuant to the provisions of the reclamation act of June 17, 1902, and acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto, hereinafter referred to as the reclamation law, shall have determined that the construction of a project or unit of a project for the reclamation of arid and semiarid lands is practical and advisable, or if he shall determine that any project for the drainage of any swamp lands is practicable and advisable, and shall have approved of the construction thereof under the provisions of this act, the Secretary of the Interior is authorized to enter into contract or contracts with an irrigation or drainage district or districts, including such lands, which are duly organized under the laws of the state or states in which such lands are located, and thereafter to provide for the construction of the necessary works under the provisions of this act for the reclamation of such lands.

SEC. 3. That when such district or districts shall have duly voted and issued bonds bearing interest at a rate to be fixed by the Secretary of the Interior not to exceed four per centum per annum, in sufficient amount to cover the cost of such project as estimated by the Secretary of the Interior, and the legality and validity of such bond issue shall have been duly continued by the courts in the manner provided by the state laws and upon the execution of contract or contracts between the district or districts and the Secretary of the Interior be authorized to accept such district bonds and deposit the same with the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall collect the principal and interest thereon and apply the same to the payment of the principal and interest of the certificates of indebtedness hereinafter authorized, provided, that the total face value of such obligation or drainage district bonds accepted by the Secretary of the Interior shall not for any one project exceed the sum of twenty-five million dollars.

SEC. 4. That upon the receipt by the Secretary of the Treasury of such district bonds he shall issue certificates of indebtedness of the United States in amount equal to the face value of such district bonds and bearing interest at the same rate and in form as he may prescribe and in denominations of fifty dollars or multiples thereof, the principal and interest to be payable in gold coin of the United States, the principal and interest thereon to become due not less than sixty days after the due date of the principal and interest of the corresponding district bonds, respectively. Such certificates of indebtedness shall run for the same period as the corresponding district bonds.

SEC. 5. That from time to time, as funds may be required by the Secretary of the Interior for construction purposes, such certificates of indebtedness shall be disposed of by the Secretary of the Interior, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, giving all citizens of the United States an equal opportunity to subscribe therefor, but no commission shall be allowed, and the aggregate issue of such certificates shall not exceed the amount of the disbursements made by the Secretary of the Treasury and shall in no event exceed the sum of twenty-five million dollars for any one project, and the proceeds from the sale of such certificates of indebtedness shall be deposited in a special project fund to be used in carrying out the provisions of this act for said project.

SEC. 6. That the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to expend the moneys in any such project fund for constructing the necessary works in the same manner and under the same conditions as expenditures are authorized for in the said reclamation law, which shall be applicable to the said works in all respects, except as herein specifically modified.

SEC. 7. That should a surplus remain from the proceeds of the sale of such certificates of indebtedness issued in connection with any project after the construction of the works provided for in the contract or contracts, such surplus may be used in the construction of additional works in connection with such project provided for by supplemental contract or contracts, or the same may be used in the operation and maintenance of the works of the project or credited as payment of interest on the district bonds issued on account of said project, with preference. All contracts hereunder with such districts shall limit the expenditures to be made by the United States to the proceeds of the certificates of indebtedness issued on account of bonds for such district or districts and may provide for the issue and deposit of additional bonds should the bonds originally deposited prove insufficient in amount. If in the opinion of the Secretary of the Interior sufficient funds are available in the reclamation fund, the construction of the proposed works for the reclamation of arid or semiarid lands within the states named in the reclamation law may be paid wholly or in part out of the reclamation fund, and the said reclamation fund shall be reimbursed for any sums so used therefrom.

SEC. 8. That the certificates of indebtedness herein authorized shall be exempt from taxes or duties of the United States as well as from taxation in any form now or under the state, municipal, or local authority, and a sum not exceeding one-tenth of one per centum of the amount of the certificates of indebtedness issued under this act is hereby appropriated out of the said reclamation fund to pay the expenses of preparing, advertising, and issuing the same, provided, that the reclamation fund shall be reimbursed for such expenditure out of the proceeds of the sale of such certificates of indebtedness, which expense shall be charged to the district or districts in the same manner as all other expenses in connection with the construction of the project works.

SEC. 9. That should the collections of principal or interest on any district bond issue deposited with the Secretary of the Treasury be insufficient to meet the payment of the principal or interest of the corresponding certificates of indebtedness, then the general funds of the treasury shall be reimbursed for any such deficiency out of the reclamation guaranty fund, and should any such defaulted bond, interest or principal, be collected after such reimbursement of the general fund, then such collection shall be credited to the said reclamation guaranty fund.

SEC. 10. That upon default of any installment of the principal and interest of any district bond so accepted and deposited, the Secretary of the Interior may declare the entire amount of such issue in default, and through the Attorney General of the United States may cause suit to be instituted for the collection of the amount in default of principal or interest or the entire amount of such bond issue, principal and interest, and the Attorney General shall, upon request of the Secretary of the Interior under this act, cause proceedings to be commenced for the recovery of said amounts within ninety days from the receipt of the application at the Department of Justice.

SEC. 11. That unentered public lands of the United States proposed to be irrigated or drained under any project under the provisions of this act shall be divided into farm units of acres which in the opinion of the Secretary of the Interior, may be reasonably required for the support of a family upon the lands in question, and the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to have such farm units appraised and from time to time to advertise and sell the same in such portions or units of the project as he shall deem advisable, at public auction for cash to the highest bidder at not less than the appraised value thereof, not more than one farm unit being sold to any one person, and such sale shall be subject to the conditions hereinafter provided in regard to the reclamation and drainage thereof. Should any such land remain unsold at such public auction it may thereafter be sold at private sale for cash at not less than the appraised value, and should any such land remain unsold at private sale it may be reappraised from time to time at intervals of two years and sold at public auction or private sale, as in this section provided.

SEC. 12. That for lands so sold contracts of sale shall be issued subject to the condition that within two years after the date of notice by the Secretary of the Interior that water is available for the irrigation of such farm unit, or drainage capacity is available therefor, that the purchaser shall have cleared (where clearing is required), drained, cultivated, prepared for irrigation or agricultural uses, in the manner required by the Secretary of the Interior at least one eighth of the irrigable or reclaimable acreage of such farm unit, and must prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Interior, one fourth of the irrigable or reclaimable acreage shall be reclaimed and drained within three years, three eighths within four years, and one half within five years after the date of such notice by the Secretary of the Interior. Upon proof satisfactory to the Secretary of the Interior, of the reclamation and drainage of one half the irrigable or reclaimable acreage at any time before or after said period of two years, patent shall issue to the purchaser or his assignee holding an assignment duly filed in the local land office, but should such purchaser fail to make proof in any case of the irrigation, drainage, and reclamation of the acreage as herein required or to make proof of the irrigation, reclamation, and drainage of one half the irrigable and reclaimable acreage within a period of ten years, then such contract together with all payments made thereon, shall be subject to forfeiture by the Secretary of the Interior, and the land shall revert to the United States to be again appraised and sold in the manner as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 13. That from the money received from such sales of land the expense of appraisement and sale paid to the reclamation or project fund shall be deducted and the balance shall be turned into the reclamation fund, and may, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Interior be used in the construction of proposed projects either under this act or under the reclamation law.

SEC. 14. That the unentered lands of the United States within the limits of any district with which contract is made by the Secretary of the Interior shall be subject to the provisions of the act entitled "An act to promote the reclamation of arid lands, approved August 11, 1916 (Thirty-ninth Statutes, page five hundred sixty.)"

SEC. 15. That the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to perform any and all acts and to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary and proper for the purpose of carrying the provisions of this act into full force and effect.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER ELEVEN.

Relative to the improvement of Crescent City Harbor.

WHEREAS, There has been introduced in the Congress of the United States a bill carrying an appropriation of three hundred ninety thousand dollars for the improvement of Crescent City Harbor; and

WHEREAS, The shipping interests of the Pacific Coast greatly need a harbor midway between the Golden Gate and the mouth of the Columbia River and half way between Mexico on the south and Canada on the north, into which coastwise vessels may enter with safety in time of storm or in time of distress; and

WHEREAS, A large area of country in northern California and southern Oregon will be greatly benefited by such improvement and the commerce of the United States greatly increased from the new dormant natural resources in mines, horticultural products, agricultural products and the wonderful timber resources of that country; and

WHEREAS, One hundred forty thousand people who live in the territory to be benefited by it, are demanding the improvement of Crescent City Harbor; and

WHEREAS, Sixty thousand square miles of territory in northern California, northern Nevada, southern Oregon and southern Idaho will be directly benefited by the improvement of this harbor; and

WHEREAS, Rogue River Valley alone will enjoy a saving in freight rates of seven million dollars a year on eighteen million boxes of fruit when the present plantings are in full bearing and the harbor at Crescent City is improved; and

WHEREAS, Eighty four billion feet of merchantable lumber will find its way to Crescent City Harbor from the United States forest reserves, provided the harbor is improved, which would mean at least eighty four million dollars for the government from stumpage and eight hundred forty million dollars for the people who fell the timber, handle the logs and manufacture and move the lumber; and

WHEREAS, It is estimated that private parties and corporations own at least one hundred twenty billion feet of timber in this territory, which if manufactured and moved to market would mean over two hundred million dollars to the owners and the men who do the work; and

WHEREAS, One million tons of copper ore have been blocked out within sixty miles of Crescent City Harbor, which can be profitably moved only with harbor and railroad facilities, which would amount to a million dollar business, and as yet this section of country has not been thoroughly prospected for minerals; and

WHEREAS, When the seawalls have been completed, according to the engineers' report, the harbor will have an entrance forty feet deep at low water and a width of one thousand feet, there will be a strip of water from five hundred to two thousand feet wide and over a mile long, thirty feet deep and over; and

WHEREAS, Crescent City Bay, with the proposed seawalls completed, would be a harbor of refuge for all coastwise craft, and could be economically deepened and widened to make room for a large fleet of heavy draft vessels; and

WHEREAS, This bay is half way from San Francisco to the mouth of the Columbia River, and is midway between Canada on the north and Mexico on the south, its geographical location, therefore, especially fitting it for a naval base, and its close proximity to the Coast range of mountains to the south and east and the high islands two miles to the north admirably fitting it for inexpensive defense; and

WHEREAS, The Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors has reported favorably upon the project; and

WHEREAS, The resources of an empire await this harbor improvement; and

WHEREAS, The people of Del Norte County, California, have provided one hundred thousand dollars to be used by the government engineers in the proposed work; now, therefore be it

Resolved, by the Assembly and the Senate of the Legislature of the State of California, joint res. That our Representatives and Senators in Congress be and they are hereby urged and requested to use all honorable means to procure the passage of said bill providing for the improvement of Crescent City Harbor; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be and he is, hereby directed to forward a certified copy of these resolutions to each of our Representatives and Senators in Congress.

By Senator Scott:

WHEREAS, An unusual increase in the cost of the necessities of life has come to the people of the State of California; and

At a union meeting of the First Baptist Church of Hermosa Beach and the Methodist Church of the same place the following resolution was adopted:

That the united churches desire to enter their protest against the adoption of certain bills now pending before the State Legislature looking toward the teaching and training in military tactics in the schools of California.

We believe, in the first place, that the teaching and educating the youths of our land in the use of deadly weapons for the maiming and killing of their fellow man is in direct opposition to the teachings of the Lord Jesus Christ.

And secondly, we believe that the schools of the State have all at the present that they can successfully carry.

Done by order of the churches this 27th day of February, 1917.

A. G. H. HODGES, Clerk of the Baptist Church.

Also:

WHEREAS, The people of California sought many years to have a practical Torrens' Land Title Act and were prevented until the women's clubs, by initiative, placed the amended Torrens' Title Act on the statutes, and

WHEREAS, A campaign of intimidation and annoyances by bankers of their refusal to loan money on a Torrens' title, causing people to refrain from availing themselves of its provisions results in the virtual annulment of this valuable legislation, and

WHEREAS, Senate Bill No. 628 provides for a Superintendent of Land Title Registration who has authority to investigate such discriminations and to use all proper means for the prevention of annulment of the law by unfair means, and

WHEREAS, We believe public funds could be expended to no better advantage than for the purpose of making titles to property secure, conveying inexpensive, and promoting successful operation of laws which are the popularly expressed will of the people; now, therefore be it

Resolved, That The Monday Evening Club of Chico, Cal., requests you and your colleagues in Senate and Assembly to work for the enactment into law of Senate Bills Nos. 628, 791, 792, and 793.

PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Honorable Members of the Legislature of the State of California:

We, the undersigned, housewives and consumers residing in your district, earnestly request that you oppose any legislation prohibiting the manufacturers of standard articles of merchandise from redeeming their own labels, trade-marks, wrappers, coupons, or other similar tokens, for the reason that this cooperative advertising and merchandising is entirely in the interest of the consumer, and such a law would deprive us of a valuable discount on purchases, which discount is received without any increase in cost, or depreciation in value, of the standard articles purchased.

We respectfully and earnestly urge that the following amendment be incorporated in any bill, prohibiting or taxing premium advertising:

"Provided, however, that this act shall not prohibit the manufacturer or packer from issuing and redeeming, in any manner, for any goods, wares, or merchandise, his, its, or their own labels, trade-marks, wrappers, coupons, or other similar tokens which are attached to, included within, or form a part of the package of his, its, or their own goods, wares, or merchandise, nor the sale of such goods, wares, or merchandise."

MISS EMILY ZANDER, and 800 others.

Also:

To the Hon. Members of the Legislature of the State of California:

We, the undersigned, retail grocers of this State, your constituents, earnestly request you to oppose any legislation prohibiting the manufacturers of standard articles of merchandise from redeeming their own labels, trade-marks, wrappers, coupons, or other similar tokens, for the reason that this cooperative advertising and merchandising is distinctly beneficial, and in no manner detrimental, to the dealer and the consumer.

Furthermore, we particularly direct your attention to the important fact that such a prohibitory State law would very injuriously discriminate against the grocers in this State, in favor of the powerful, foreign, direct-to-consumer and interstate concerns, which would not be subject thereto. Such a law would operate to drive trade from our stores directly into the hands of these foreign concerns, our most powerful competitors.

In addition, trading stamps should not be confused with the manufacturers' redeemable tokens, as they are entirely different in character and effect, and whatever may be the evils which the retail grocer complains of in the trading stamp system, these evils are not present, to any degree, in the premium advertising employed by the manufacturers, where the tokens are directly issued by the manufacturer to and redeemed from the consumer, without any expense or burden, in the slightest degree upon the dealer.

We respectfully and earnestly urge that the following amendment be incorporated in any bill seeking to prohibit or tax premium advertising:

"Provided, however, that this act shall not prohibit the manufacturer or packer from issuing and redeeming, in any manner, for any goods, wares, or merchandise, his, its, or their own labels, trade-marks, wrappers, coupons, or other similar tokens which are attached to, included within, or form a part of the package of his, its, or their own goods, wares, merchandise, nor the sale of such goods, wares, or merchandise."

MRS. E. R. BAVIS, and 888 others

Also:

Senator Slater presented a petition addressed to the Senate from the Northern California Hotel Association in opposition to the "non-sale of trout law" (petition on file with the Fish and Game Commission), signed by E. Turpin and thirty one others. The same petition was signed by one hundred Washoe Indians.

PRIVILEGE OF FLOOR OF SENATE EXTENDED.

On request of Senator Breed, the privilege of the floor of the Senate Chamber, for this day, was unanimously extended to Mr. W. H. Spaulding of Oakland.

ADDRESS BY SENATOR SLATER.

Senator Slater addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN OF THE SENATE: I would like to ask the indulgence of the Senate for a few moments this morning, while I call to mind that this is the birthday of California's most distinguished scientist and world man, Mr. Luther Burbank.

Several years ago, by way of compliment to this distinguished man, who has done so much as God's assistant in Nature in the realm of horticulture, the Legislature designated March 7th—Mr. Burbank's birthday—as Bird and Arbor Day. Today all over this great State of ours, thousands of school children will hold special exercises out of compliment to Mr. Burbank and will plant in their school yards shrubs, trees and flowers, many of which were personally donated by Mr. Burbank from his gardens for that purpose. Mr. Burbank has always been a great friend of children, and has been ever kind and solicitous for their welfare.

When we contemplate the worth of such a man as Luther Burbank, we are bound to admit that no more useful man than he has ever lived. Untiringly, for over forty years, in my home town of Santa Rosa, he has labored for the benefit of mankind in the creation of new forms of plant life, instilling more beauty to the color tint of the rose and other blossoms that make this world of ours so beautiful, adding to their perfume and their growth; creating many varieties of fruits and vegetables that have benefited us all. In reviewing his splendid accomplishments, I am sure, Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, you join with me most heartily in wishing him many happy returns of the day, and many more years of activity and usefulness in his labor of love. When at length the shadows will lengthen over the landscape of his life, we shall ever treasure the distinction of having had one so eminently distinguished a resident of our Golden State for so many years.

I point with pride to those flowers beside your desk, Mr. President, to that picture of him whom we honor on this occasion, and west of Santa Rosa and Sonoma County certainly appreciate this opportunity in the Senate of California of according this slight token to California's esteemed citizen.

PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

LOS ANGELES, CAL., March —, 1917.

HON. WM. D. STEPHENS, Lieutenant Governor,
and members of the Legislature:

DEAR SIR: The passage of Senate Bill No. 5, which provides for a license tax on all firms, corporations, etc., giving trading stamps, coupons and similar devices, is urgently desired by the retail chain dealers of your district.

This will relieve a condition that unless remedied will ultimately drive them out of business.

We ask your support of this measure on the broad grounds of giving the small merchant an equal opportunity of competing with the large corporations.

Very truly yours,

T. B. HARRIS, and 125 others.

Also:

BERKELEY, CALIFORNIA, March 2, 1917.

HON. WM. D. STEPHENS,
Lieutenant Governor of California,
Sacramento, California:

DEAR SIR: There is before the present session of the California Legislature a bill (Senate Bill No. 3991) introduced by Senator Breed and proposing to appropriate $30,000 for the completion of the "John Muir Trail" and laterals therefrom.

This bill is one to which no one can take any proper exception, as the results accruing from the establishing of such a trail are worth many times the amount of money to be expended on it.

May I bespeak your support for the bill in the event it comes into your hands?

Very truly yours,

CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATED SOCIETIES FOR THE CONSERVATION OF WILD LIFE.
TRACY I. STROBER, Secretary-Treasurer.

WHEREAS, This chapter believes that the enactment of these three bills into laws will subserve the best interests of the citizens of the State; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Southern California Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, in regular session assembled, February 23, 1917, does hereby endorse the work of the State Housing Institute and earnestly recommends and urges the California Legislature to enact the three proposed housing bills into law, and be it further

OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, February 26, 1917.

State Senate, Sacramento, California:

GENTLEMEN: The following resolution was presented and adopted unanimously at the regular meeting of the Vernon-Rockridge Improvement Club, held February 19, 1917:

WHEREAS, The people of the city of Oakland, at a special election held on August 22, 1916, adopted an amendment to the city charter permitting the leasing to the highest bidder of certain lands lying back of the western waterfront for a period exceeding twenty-five years; and

WHEREAS, It has been practically agreed that any lease entered into under said charter amendment shall not be given for an initial period exceeding fifty years, and that provisions shall be embodied therein which will amply protect the interests of the city of Oakland and of the people of the State of California; and

WHEREAS, This organization, at its meeting on January 30, 1917, adopted a resolution requesting the City Council to instruct the city attorney to immediately prepare a tentative lease embodying the terms under which bids will be invited after the said amendment shall have been ratified by the Legislature; and

WHEREAS, The City Council of the City of Oakland has agreed, by resolution duly adopted, to submit to a vote of the electors of the city at the general municipal election in May, the terms of any lease offered for sale under said charter amendment; and

WHEREAS, Said charter amendment is now before the State Legislature for ratification, and the Legislature has never refused to ratify any amendment to a city charter, duly adopted by the voters of that city; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Vernon Rockridge Improvement Club fully urge the members of the State Legislature, immediately upon convening after the recess, to approve said charter amendment adopted by the people of Oakland, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be forwarded to the State Senate, the State Assembly, to the Citizens Committee for Outer Harbor Development, and to the press; and be it further

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to appear before the legislative committee and argue the ratification of the amendment.

VERNON ROCKRIDGE IMPROVEMENT CLUB.

BRAWLEY, CALIFORNIA, February 21, 1917.

Resolution adopted by the Board of Trustees of the City of Brawley, County of Imperial:

Resolved, That we, the Board of Trustees of Brawley City, do urgently request the State Legislature to enact into law the county unit bill, which will give each county of the state the power to protect itself against liquor shops established in small communities to the detriment of the whole county and against the wishes of the majority.

Resolved, Further, that the clerk of this board shall send copies of the above resolution to our representatives, Hon. R. E. Wells, and S. C. Evans, and Senators Edgar A. Luce, and Hon. H. J. Baldwin, chairman of the Assembly's Committee on Public Morals, and to the Clerk of the Assembly, and to the Secretary of the Senate at Sacramento.

Passed, adopted and approved this 19th day of February, 1917.

A. P. HIGGINS,

President of the Board of Trustees of the City of Brawley.

J. A. HARRIS, City Clerk.

Also:

Resolved, That we, the Board of Supervisors of Imperial County, California, in regular meeting convened, respectfully petition the Legislature of California at its present session to enact the Carr-Dennett bill amending the Wythe local option law so that the whole county, including all incorporated cities therein, shall be one unit.

All of Imperial County, except the City of Imperial, is now a license territory. A considerable majority of the permanent citizens of Imperial City desire the repeal of saloons there, but by concentrating the floating vote of the county in that city, the liquor interests are able to perpetuate Imperial's saloons. In this city of 2,000 roads and jitneys the saloons and liquor stores in Imperial are a curse to the whole county. Yet the county is powerless to remove them.

We are credibly informed that similar conditions exist in many counties of the State, and we therefore respectfully urge our State Legislature to give us relief from this intolerable condition by passing the county unit bill.

M. S. COOK, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

By E. B. WILSON, Deputy.

[SEAL]

Above resolution passed and adopted by the Board of Supervisors of Imperial County, California, at a regular meeting held February 19, 1917.

DEAR SIR: The Browning Club of Pasadena, composed of one hundred and twenty women voters of this State, wishes to go on record as supporting Senate Bill 200, introduced by Senator William E. Brown at this session of the Legislature.

Very truly,

Also:

To the Honorable WILLIAM D. STEPHENS,

Lieutenant Governor of California:

DEAR SIR:

WHEREAS, The California History and Landmarks Club are asking the Legislature for an appropriation of $25,000 for the establishment of a Memorial Park to be known as the Fremont-Pico Memorial Park, commemorating the signing of the treaty of 1847, whereby California became a United States province; and

WHEREAS, The State of California has been very generous in appropriations for history and landmarks' work in the past; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Berkeley Hills Chapter, D. A. R., do commend said movement, and we respectfully call to the attention of your honorable body the bill for the creation of the Fremont-Pico Memorial Park, and hope that you will consent to and support the act to fittingly commemorate the men who signed the Treaty of Caluengo, and the place where it was signed by creating this Memorial Park.

Resolutions adopted by the Fortnightly Club of Redlands, California, February 15, 1917:

WHEREAS, We emphatically approve the action of the President of the United States in severing diplomatic relations with the German Empire; and

WHEREAS, We maintain that at the last analysis the one supreme principle which should prevail to guide us through this period of trial is the duty of the nation toward itself, toward its people, and further, toward all mankind; and

WHEREAS, We rejoice that if the performance of its obligations to the eternal cause of righteousness does involve our nation in war, it will not be against those who are fighting the battles of truth, honor, justice, and humanity; it will not be from jealousy of a rival power; it will not be for territorial aggrandizement, or for any material gain; it will be simply that war has come to us as our necessary part toward bringing to an end that ghastly series of crimes, the continuance of which would threaten the very existence of our civilization; and

WHEREAS, We deplore the recent agitation and memorializing by various individuals and groups of citizens of divided allegiance, ultra-pacifists, and so on, as unwise and calculated not only to weaken the hand of the United States and create a division among us in the great crisis confronting us, but to encourage the militaristic enemies of civilization to a belief in the safety of increased depredation upon the rights, not alone of our own citizens, but of humanity at large; be it hereby unanimously

Resolved, By the Fortnightly Club of Redlands, California, an organization of business and professional men of the community, meeting for social and literary purposes and the discussion of problems of the public welfare:

That we urge our President to stand firm for humanity and the honor of our beloved nation:

That we urge our Senators and Congressmen to be equally firm in their support of the Executive to this end:

That we pledge ourselves in our turn to support President, Congress and Nation to the fullest extent of our duty as patriotic citizens:

That if the fulfillment of this duty can be accomplished without war we shall be humbly thankful, but if as an issue of such fulfillment war comes to us, we shall with the nation, face it as a duty, soberly, but with a firm heart, to the end that in the councils of peace America may stand as sponsor of a newer and nobler internationalism; and be it

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our books, and copies sent to President Woodrow Wilson, to the two Senators, and to each of the Congressmen from the State of California.

Done at Redlands, California, this 15th day of February, 1917.
